IN PLASTIC BALLOON

U.S. Test Pilot Goes Up 18 Miles

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A daring U.S. Air Force test pilot, sealed in a metal capsule attached to a huge plastic balloon, rode to a record-breaking 96,000 feet—18 miles—Sunday in a flight he said was "inspiring... the proudest moment of my life."

Capt. J. W. Kittinger, 28, better by nearly four miles the previous manned-balloon altitude mark of 76,000 feet, set over Rapid City, S.D., by two U.S. Navy commanders last November. He described the trip, from takeoff at 6:23 a.m. at Fleming Field here to the landing near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles south at 12:57 p.m., as "completely successful."

$25,000 AIM OF SOLARIUM DRIVE TONIGHT

Forty-two sick youngsters will be better tonight for Greater Victoria's donations to the Queen Alexandra Solarium's annual "Shower Your Dimes" campaign. Wall of a brewery whistle will open the one-hour drive at 6 p.m. Goal is $25,000 to maintain the Solarium completely for two months or more. Canvassers will collect in Greater Victoria, Langford, Strawberry Vale, Brentwood and Ten-Mile Point.

Sacred Leader Will Ask Meighen To Report on PM's Suez Cable

AYLMER, Ont. (CP)—Solon Low, national Social Credit leader will ask former prime minister Arthur Meighen to read a telegram sent by Prime Minister St. Laurent to the British government during the Suez crisis last November. Mr. Low said May 6 and again May 8 that the telegram of the more than 50 Privy Council members named by Mr. Low, caused Britain and France to terminate their activities in Egypt. He asked the prime minister to make its contents public. Mr. St. Laurent said May 8 he was forbidden by his oath to secrecy as a member of the Privy Council to reveal such exchanges but would be willing to show the telegram to anyone of the more than 50 Privy Council members named by Mr. Low. The designated member, unable to reveal the telegram's contents, could then assure the Social Credit leader that it contained "no threat whatsoever" to the British Government.

2,000 U.S. Scientists Plead For World Nuclear Test Ban

Future Health Of Human Race Endangered

(From UP and AP Dispatches)
PASADENA, Calif.—Two thousand United States scientists, including Nobel-prize winning chemist Dr. Linus Pauling, appealed today for a world agreement to stop testing of nuclear bombs.

The scientists warned in a statement prepared by Dr. Pauling that each nuclear bomb test spreads an added burden of radioactive elements over the world.

"Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world and causes damage to the pool of human germ plasma such as to lead to an increase in the number of seriously defective children that will be born in future generations," the appeal said.

Dr. Pauling and his fellow scientists called for an international agreement to stop testing nuclear bombs now while only three nations of the world hold the secret to unleashing the awesome power of the hydrogen bomb.

"If testing continues," the statement warned, "and the possession of these weapons spreads to additional governments, the danger of outbreak of a cataclysmic nuclear war through the reckless action of some irresponsible national leader will be greatly increased."

They said that an agreement to stop testing nuclear bombs could serve as the first step toward a general disarmament and the ultimate effective abolition of nuclear weapons.

The appeal was signed by three Nobel laureates—Dr. Pauling, Dr. H. J. Muller and Dr. Joseph Erlanger—and by about 40 members of the National Academy of Sciences.

RUSS URGE 'FIRST STEP' H-BOMB BAN

LONDON (AP)—Russia today again proposed an immediate agreement to halt nuclear weapon tests as a "first step" toward a world disarmament accord.

Russia's Valerian Zorin put forth the proposal at the resumption of talks at the UN sub-committee on disarmament.

In a U.S.-wide television program Sunday, Dr. Pauling, chairman of Chemistry and Engineering at the California Institute of Technology, warned that the coming 20 generations may see the birth of four million defective babies unless the testing of nuclear weapons is stopped.

Meanwhile in Washington the doctor who directed treatment of Pacific islanders accidentally showered with H-bomb fallout said nuclear war would have "unthinkable" results on "all living things."

Dr. Eugene P. Cronkite said in testimony prepared for a U.S. Senate House of Representatives atomic energy subcommittee studying fallout dangers that multiple H-bomb explosions in such a war "would produce radiation hazards for all living things and for generations to come."

U.K. H-Bomb Hotter Than '2,000 Suns'

CHRISTMAS ISLAND (AP)—Britain's second H-bomb blast generated heat nearly 2,000 times that of the sun's surface and set an island ablaze.

William Cooke, chief scientist for the British nuclear tests in the Pacific said Friday's explosion was a "complete success in every way."

The heat generated, Cook told reporters Sunday, was rated at 10,000,000 degrees centigrade (18,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit). The average heat of the sun's surface is figured at 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The bomb, reported to be equal to 5,000,000 tons of TNT, was dropped by a Valiant jet bomber and exploded about two miles high, near the small Pacific atoll of Malden, 400 miles south of Christmas Island.

The British bomb is believed to be about half the size of the H-bomb the United States tested at Bikini last year. Cook said the blast set timber afire over Malden's five-mile length. Four hours later fires still raged, he added.

"Even pieces of wood washed up on the shore seemed to be blazing," Cook said.

The explosion, recorded by scientific instruments placed on Malden, caused no radiation contamination on the island, he said. This finding led to speculation the British may have perfected a "clean" bomb that could be used for land or sea warfare.

British nuclear scientists taking part in the operation said such a bomb could be used as a field weapon. It would provide a high degree of safety for non-enemy troops moving into the blast area once direct fallout had cleared—probably within a few days.

They stressed, however, that for such use the bomb would have to be touched off at least two miles high. At lower levels, fallout would imperil troops on both sides.

Three Victorians Hold Key to 'Irish' Fortune

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Three Victorians could win Irish Sweepstake fortunes on England's Epsom-Derby Wednesday.

Two are teen-agers: Miss Flo Peacock, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peacock, 3965 Rainbow, and Leslie

Lowres, 20, West Saanich Road, Keating.

Miss Peacock and Mr. Lowres share ticket NHV 26218 under the nom-de-plume "Lucky Us." Their horse is Master Effort.

The third lucky Victorian is Mrs. Kathleen Bones of 1762 Carrick. (See interview, page 13.)

Mrs. Bones has ticket NHV 18489 on Mystic Prince. Odds on Mystic Prince reported from Epsom today are 100 to 1. Odds on Master Effort are not known. The favorite is Crepello at 9 to 4.

Holders of Irish tickets on the winning horse would get $140,000; second place finish would be worth $36,000, and third place $28,000.

IN SAME OFFICE

Miss Peacock works in the same office as Mrs. Bones' daughter Helen. They are both assistants to George Jones, chairman of the B.C. Purchasing Commission.

"I'm so breathless I hardly know what to say," Miss Peacock told The Times. "I've been at work less than two years and the prospect of winning all that money for doing nothing is a little frightening."

"I don't know what I shall do with it. I haven't had time to get used to the idea."

It required an intensive search of the Legislative Buildings by a Times reporter to discover the holders of the "Lucky Us" ticket.

Mr. Lowres is an employee of the B.C. Power Commission. He has been at work only 18 months.

He and Miss Peacock share their ticket. They held separate tickets in the Irish sweep last year.

"I'm not getting excited yet," Mr. Lowres said. "Anything can happen in horse racing. We might only get a non-starters' prize."

Holders of non-starters receive anything from $56 to $280. "It's pretty good news, just the same," Mr. Lowres added, "and you never know your luck."

GOV'T HOUSE DESIGN

Don't Be Victorian City Architect Says

A leading Victoria architect today said the design for the new Government House should be "modern reflecting the spirit of our times and not a copy of the empty forms of the past."

John di Castri, widely known across Canada for his new architectural ideas, stepped into the controversy over the design for the new building which was destroyed by fire in April.

He is the first professional architect to express his views publicly.

A survey of public opinion conducted by The Times Saturday showed that many people believe the building should conform in style to Victoria-Edwardian precedents.

Mr. di Castri said there should be no question of the style of the new building.

"To say that it should have an atmosphere of dignity is to state one of the basic truths, but to attempt to classify that dignity as of the English variety is to verify our provincialism," he said.

Mr. di Castri said many people seem confused as to what a modern building should be. They forget, he said, that modern architecture is a method of thought similar to democracy, not a series of clichés.

SPEAK FOR PROVINCE

"This new Government House should speak for the city and province," he said. "It should be a clear statement of the integrity of the designer as well as of the society in which we live."

"It must, of course, be dignified and gracious, but not through sham effects achieved by thoughtless copying of the empty forms of the past," he added.

The building of Government House, he said, is a golden opportunity for Victoria to build something worthwhile.

Discussions, he added, should not be disturbed by the meaningless words of modernistic, traditional, home engineering and old-time styling.

"It is something that concerns us all vitally and those who have opinions of merit should speak out clearly," he said.

He noted that many people seemed to be still laboring under the misguided opinion that if a building is to be modern it cannot be beautiful, but must necessarily be cold, undignified, repulsive.

"This kind of thinking confirms the all-too-evident signs of our cultural provinciality," he said. "We accept mediocrity just to be safe."

PATHEPIC

Mr. di Castri asked Victorians to name one new building which they can point out with pride.

He said the pathetic thing about Victoria is that its architecture is a design of "compromise."

Sentimentality, he said, should not be allowed to cloud the assessment of a new design.

"Either we are building something that our city can be proud of, or else, as a famous architect once said, we will have another of the kind of buildings we deserve," he said.

THE BALD BOY—CHAPTER ONE

Growing Forehead Latest Worry

First of his hilarious chapters on how to add glamour and dignity to baldness by famed writer Elmer Wheeler, appears in The Times today.

The series, a condensed version of Wheeler's "The Bald Boy," will appear daily. Wheeler first won fame for his publication "Fat Boy's Book."

By ELMER WHEELER

As the original fat boy, I lost 40 pounds in 80 days. I got 2,500,000 letters from the calorie clan when I told the world how I did it. Then a new worry confronted me. My forehead began to grow.

I had no more learned the hard way to keep the fat of the land from living on my bay window and under my chins, when a more serious problem hit me.

My forehead began to expand as fast as my bay window was receding. As rapidly as my tummy went back, so did my hair line.

If something weren't done in a hurry Old Fat Boy would soon be New Bald Boy.

So once more Elmer set out to find out what to do about a situation that has caused centuries of embarrassment and trouble, and has provoked more inferior complexes than pigeons on man.

I had whipped weight with facts, knowledge and calories, hadn't I? Why couldn't I find the same formula of fighting a difficulty with knowledge work for Old Baldy?

It was getting darned embarrassing to comb my hair and see from 100 to what looked like 1,000 of Elmer's lovely boyhood locks showing up in the bitter teeth of the merciless comb.

Just as the scales became my symbol of mockery as "old fatso," my comb was fast becoming a more horrible symbol. The symbol of baldness.

I REALIZED only too well

I don't mind so much about the preliminary bombs, just so they never explode the last one.

Wouldn't object to a modernistic Gov't House, long as it wuz surrounded by modernistic trees an' facin' a modernistic strait an' modernistic Olympics.

M' Uncle Zeke sez bein' bald prevents fuzzy thinkin'.

U.S. Socialism Predicted on TV By Khrushchev

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, reigning boss of world Communism, made his debut on United States television Sunday.

He predicted the grandchildren of his millions of American viewers "will live under socialism," but said the Soviet Union does not want to impose its type of socialism on anybody.

Khrushchev replied readily to a panel's questions on Soviet internal and external policies, but he added nothing new to the world's knowledge of Russian aims. Almost everything he said was a repetition of what he or other Soviet leaders had said on previous occasions.

It was the Soviet Communist leader's first appearance on any formal television program and he came through like a seasoned trouper. He appeared on the CBS Face the Nation program, which was filmed in his office in the Kremlin Tuesday.

Favors Disarmament Step by Step

Khrushchev evidently decided against making the filmed interview a platform for any verbal bombshells. All the points he made repeated previous Soviet position. Among the points:

Disarmament: The Russians are "quite prepared to limit ourselves to some small step, instead of going after a comprehensive agreement at once, so that a small step might lead to something bigger." But the U.S.S.R. already had made this position plain in the disarmament talks in London. It reversed a previous stand for comprehensive agreements.

Troop withdrawals: The Russians are willing to withdraw their troops from East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Romania if the West will withdraw foreign troops from their present bases. He denied he feared the satellite countries would desert communism in the absence of Soviet troops.

"Let's have a test," Khrushchev said. "Why don't you withdraw your troops from Germany and France, and we will withdraw ours from East Ger-

Khrushchev made his prediction about a socialist America in response to a question concerning competition of ideas.

"We do want to compete with you, and in that competition we want to have the most healthy forces come into the forefront, and we believe that our socialist system represents the most healthy elements, because it is a younger system," Khrushchev said.

"And if you are acquainted with history and know how one social system was changed and another system took its place, you will know that the old capitalist system in our country has been replaced by the socialist system, and I can prophesy that your grandchildren in America will live under socialism."

many, Poland and Hungary, and you will see that the Kadar regime, which is the people's regime in Hungary, will flourish for ages to come."

War prospects: Khrushchev denied that a belief the United States is definitely planning war on the Soviet Union underlies all Soviet policies.

"That is not my view," Khrushchev said. "I simply repeated what four political leaders have been saying, and your generals, especially your admirals."

He denied, too, that a new world war would destroy Communism as well as capitalism. He said Communism would survive a new war, "but that is a very high price and it would be a tremendous calamity for both capitalist and socialist countries, and therefore we have to live on one planet."

Peaceful co-existence: Normalization of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, Khrushchev said, should begin with the removal of trade restrictions. Then, he said, there should be exchanges of cultural and business delegations.

Stresses Peaceful Co-Existence

Khrushchev conceded that at present the people of the United States show no support for Marxist-Leninist ideas. He added:

They are following the bourgeois political leaders, but is that a reason for war? Is that a reason for any enmity between us and the United States? No. Let us live in peace. Let us develop our economy. Let us compete. Let us trade with each other. Let us exchange experience in agriculture, in industry, in the field of culture, and as far as the question of which system will come out on top, let history, let our peoples decide that."

Khrushchev refused to don earphones to take advantage of a simultaneous translation system, and thus an interpreter, Victor Sukhadrev, had to sit by him and whisper translations of the questions.

One line of the introductory remarks was eliminated when Khrushchev objected. It referred to his office as the place where major decisions were made.

"We don't have the cult of personality one-man rule any more and I wouldn't like to give the impression there is one," Khrushchev said.

THEIR HEARTS ARE SHOWING—Today's teenagers are going their parents one better when it comes to showing their feelings. In years gone by, the two straws in one soda was a sure sign of love. Now, thanks to adhesive bandages, the "steady daters" proclaim their mutual interest by wearing identical heart patches. The new fad includes four-leaf clovers to proclaim "lucky me," zippers which indicate "my lips are sealed" and a variety of others. —(NEA)

Cursing, Drinking Youngsters Battle Police at B.C. Resort

CRESCENT BEACH, B.C. (CP)—A club-swinging battle in which 12 policemen and a group of local residents took on a crowd of about 75 cursing, drinking youngsters in this resort town Saturday night was reported today.

After 1½ hours of fighting, police arrested six youths from Vancouver and Burnaby and laid charges of inciting an affray, causing a disturbance and resisting arrest. They were to appear in Cloverdale police court later today.

Residents of Crescent Beach, 30 miles south of Vancouver, described the fighting as "just like open warfare."

"Two gangs were fighting among themselves," RCMP Const. R. E. Fairhurst, said today. He and Const. R. D. McArthur were first on the scene.

"About half the mob seemed to be girls and they were as bad as the boys. They all seemed to be from 17 to 22.

"They were shouting and cursing, fighting all over the place, smashing beer bottles on the beach and generally doing everything they could think of to cause trouble."

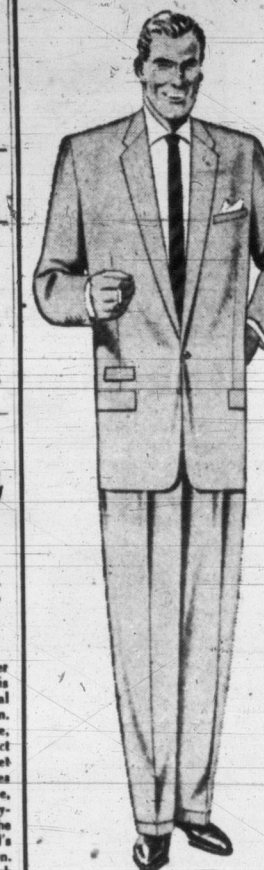

The policemen had only flashlights. "We couldn't do anything,"

A Man Talking Sense

IT IS GOOD TO SEE DR. FRANK Fairley standing firmly on the Federal Government's money policy. He is not sidestepping the issue. He is not talking airy generalities.

He endorses the sane and courageous position taken by the administration because he believes in it. He believes in it because he understands the efforts Finance Minister Harris, with the support of the Government, is making to check inflation.

Dr. Fairley will not sacrifice his integrity by suggesting that the Government can print more money without reducing the purchasing power of the dollar. Nor will he woo votes by proposing that a flood of funds be released to bid up the prices of goods and services. He has no intention of joining Conservative or Social Credit aspirants for his seat in a state of promises which cannot be redeemed.

Both in national policy and in his successful representation of Victoria he prefers to deal in facts. He is doing that in his report to the people of this community on his activities in the House of Commons.

No one familiar with the issue will doubt the part he played in holding the federal forestry laboratory here when efforts were made to move it to Vancouver. No one who is informed will challenge his success in persuading the Federal Government to assume the major share of Admirals Road construction costs. Those acquainted with the situation here will provide evidence of his accomplishment in helping to remove the 10 per cent sales tax on steel for bridges built by municipalities. And civic and other municipal officials will acknowledge his work to secure payment of municipal taxes on federal buildings and in stimulating federal grants for education.

These are points which should be drawn to the attention of Victorians at this time. Dr. Fairley is not a man given to flamboyant ballyhoo. He is a Canadian who has considered it his responsibility to work conscientiously for the country, as a soldier and a civilian.

He is campaigning now with pride in the record of his party and a willingness to serve this community as a sound, able and effective representative.

If the people of Victoria want a voice that is respected in Ottawa because of the commonsense it carries, they can have it by re-electing Dr. Fairley. If they are looking for a vaudeville performance in the federal capital, Dr. Fairley is not their man.

The Aftermath

THE AFTERMATH OF THE Hungarian revolution, with none of the world attention that was given the uprising of last fall, is now underway. It is to be found chiefly in Budapest and other Hungarian newspapers in small items which tell of the continuing arrests and sentencing of anti-communist fighters.

At least 84 persons have been sentenced to death and 40 executed, according to a tally from official announcements. But it is pointed out these figures are taken only from Budapest newspapers, and do not include the many sentences published in local papers. An unofficial estimate puts the total of death sentences in the whole country at 2,000—a significant comment on communist "freedom."

Pensions—for the Record

THE RECORD HAS CAUGHT up with Mr. John Diefenbaker and his lieutenant, Mr. George Hees, on the implication that, placed in power, they would give old age pensioners a "better" social security system patterned on that of the United States.

Neither Mr. Diefenbaker nor Mr. Hees has definitely committed himself on the point. Both have left the impression that they favor the U.S. model and Mr. Hees has praised the American system as "a far better pension plan than we have in Canada."

Both Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Hees neglect to mention the fact that the Conservatives are partly responsible for the introduction of the Canadian old age pension in its present general form.

Messrs. Diefenbaker, Donald Fleming, A. J. Brooks, and Dr. W. G. Blair—all candidates in the present election—gave Conservative representation to the parliamentary committee which approved the old age pension machinery in Canada.

That committee unanimously rejected the American plan. Mr. Donald Fleming, a leading Conservative, explained to the House of Commons on October 25, 1931:

"The factor which led the (parliamentary) committee to reject the insurance system (followed in the United States) was that necessarily it would have been incomplete in its operation in our country; that it could not possibly have extended to even half of those to whom the universal system will extend, and that it would have become absolutely necessary to provide for others, no doubt in substantial numbers, by continuation of the assistance program. That, in turn, would inevitably have involved the continuance of the means test."

What makes the American system, attractive now?

The Scenery's Good

THE PGE MAY BE MR. BENNETT's "brightest jewel" but it apparently has an uncomfortable setting.

Staff reporter Tom Ardies of the Vancouver Sun presents the evidence. He had heard complaints of uncomfortable travel and no appreciable schedule. He made the trip to Lillooet and back to find out for himself.

The scenery is very good, reports Mr. Ardies.

He is not so enthusiastic about other features. He does not enjoy waiting for a delayed start from North Vancouver. He does not appreciate the shortage of accommodation which jammed him into a half seat—even though he was luckier than a score of others who paid first class fares and rode in the baggage section.

He resents the allocation of unadvertised "reserved" seats about which the conductor professes ignorance. He does not like losing his own seat when he goes to the washroom. Neither does he like riding part way to Squamish sitting on the floor.

Maybe Mr. Ardies was feeling a little peevish. He may have been forced to ride from North Vancouver to Squamish on a "standing room only" train. But at Squamish, when the crowd got off, the railway put on another car.

He seems a little out-of-sorts, also, in his complaint that the train reached Lillooet only 25 minutes late.

Let Mr. Ardies think back a few years—or was it a little over 100 years? Let him remember Simon Fraser climbing over Indian root ladders as he made his way down the Fraser. What can Mr. Ardies know of hardship?

As Mr. Bennett says, "The P.G.E. is our brightest jewel . . . Or have you heard that before?"

READY FOR THE AVALANCHE

By B. A. TOBIN

The Slippery Poll

A FRIEND of mine reports that in the course of conversation with a stranger—a young Vancouver Island businessman—the other day he asked, "What do you think of the election possibilities?" "Well, I dunno," said the fellow judicially. "Who's in now?" It might be a fair enough answer, though, when you consider the number of provincial public figures these days who are busily engaged in federal electioneering. But it does indicate that there must be quite a few people on whom the whole effect of the campaign is completely lost. If they don't know the ins and outs of the election, so to speak, they can't have much interest in the arguments for and against them.

Unfortunately, one doesn't have to have knowledge in order to have an opinion. Yet the vote of a person who knows absolutely nothing about the election issues, and not even the names of the candidates until he steps into the polling booth, counts for exactly the same in the totals as that of a man or woman who has studied the issues for months.

Of course, most of those who don't bother to find out anything about the questions of the day won't bother to try to answer them in the ballot box. But the vote is open to them if they want it. The wonder of democracy is that it works under such conditions; but work it does.

Blissful Ignorance

Knowing nothing about the election issues places a holder of the franchise at a disadvantage in forming a valuable opinion. But the man with a headful of mistaken ideas any better off?

This opens up the question of what are mistaken ideas and what are not. (It's the other fellow's that are mistaken.) But admitting for the moment that many a prospective voter does have such opinions, whichever side he may be on, is he likely to cast a better ballot than the man who "never heard of any of 'em"? It doesn't seem likely.

Folks who cast a vote for somebody because he has such nice blue or brown eyes, or because he dresses so well, or because his hair has an attractive wave, are not so much exercising their franchise as hog-tying it.

At the opposite extreme there are people who take an intense interest in the problems of the nation and study them from an objective standpoint to try to find the answers. These, too, may not always be right but at least they're on the right track and they fulfill their responsibilities as citizens to the highest degree.

Such a one was the young fellow who came up to this office last week and spent six hours digging into the newspaper files and Hansard to get the real facts on last year's pipeline debate and closure, for use in a discussion group.

If you can visualize that sort of thing going on here and there all over the country, you get a more encouraging slant on the future of democracy.

The state of mind of the vast majority of citizens, however, must be represented somewhere in the fully informed and the complete blank. The average voter, by this time, noting the increasing heat of the broadsides being fired over his head day after day, must be getting pretty confused.

He hears or reads an assertion by one party. It is immediately denied by another, laughed at by a third and reversed by a fourth. What is he to believe?

Direct Contradictions

These are all respectable spokesmen who swear they are telling the truth and have been devoted to it all their lives. Yet they contradict not only each other's opinions and conclusions but statements of fact.

The truths, the half-truths, the misunderstandings and the outright lies pile up and up. They are like snow drifting on a mountain peak and will likely end up in the same way.

The snow piles deeper and deeper until it reaches a critical point. Then some slight move can set it all sliding. With a rush it tumbles off the peak, leaving the bare rock in the same state it was before the storm started.

In the same way, along about now, many a voter will be shedding, with an impatient shrug, the layers of propaganda that have been showered on him in recent weeks. All that will be left will be the rock of his original firm conviction that this party or that one is the party for him.

The charges, the counter-charges, the rantings, the posturing and nonsense are sloughed off, to lie melting in the valley of obscurity, unseen and forgotten.

In some such way the inanities of an election campaign are overcome. The very weight of idiosyncrasy defeats itself, and a decision is reached.

It's a complicated, inexplicable process, which sometimes makes mistakes but in the long run appears to work. It's worth preserving and operating correctly if for only one reason: nothing better has yet been found.

As Our Readers See It

Way to Waste Votes

The duty of the qualified voters not only to record their votes but also to give careful consideration in deciding for which party that vote is to be given would appear to me to be especially urgent in B.C.

We have a Provincial Government which runs under the title of "Social Credit." This government is giving all the support of which it is capable to the running of a campaign right across Canada with the avowed intention of at any rate laying the foundation of a party which would be in a position to take over the government of the whole country. Once in power they would then put "Social Credit" financial ideas into operation.

The points that I would like to raise are first that, unless they really approve of a program like this, supporters of the present B.C. Government should not vote "Social Credit" in the federal election. Secondly: That if we are represented at Ottawa by a "Social Creditor" we might just as well have no representative at all because no one bearing that label is taken seriously down East. Surely we want a member belonging to a party with a policy that is worthy of respect.

Ode to the Prospector

It is said, he who wins the wealth of the everlasting hills fulfills no small part in the economy of the world.

And he has to face the elements—the cold, frost and snow. And alone wander the mountain sides, the valleys—ever searching for signs of minerals. The lonely places—the caves, crevices and tunnels—alone, he often has to fight the wild beast from his path.

And face the lonesome times—the flies, mosquitoes and many times hunger is his bedfellow. Now I think more consideration should be shown to him from our government officials and those in authority should try to make things easier for him instead of showing independence and making harsh, unworkable laws and rulings (Like the new 10 per cent tax on mineral in the ground). Another hardship for him to face. He should be met at government offices with a smile and a happy handshake which, to say—We appreciate the arduous work you are well doing.

Peace and Distribution

Surely Mr. Snowsall ought to realize by this time that associations of nations cannot prevent modern wars. Has the U.N. ever prevented a war? We know that the old League of Nations was powerless to prevent the coming of the Second World War.

One thing the politicians of all five parties, contesting this election have neglected to tell the voters is that while they all support this social system and while they all want peace, there is something they all want preserved more than peace, whether consciously or inadvertently, and that is profits.

Nuclear weapons are only subservient tools to be used in the constant struggle for markets, raw materials and trade routes to satisfy this motivating drive of modern civilization.

The U.N. is analogous to a convention of African tigers who have decided on a truce while the supply of gazelles is almost enough to go around.

Humanity won't see peace until society has been reorganized on a basis of common ownership of the means of production and distribution by and in the interest of the people of the earth.

J. G. JENKINS,

The Best Team

In spite of all the ballyhoo and bragadochio of the Social Credit party, it appears obvious that it is not going to get anywhere in the coming federal election.

The chances of the local candidate were not enhanced, when, at the grand Social Credit rally, his chief, Premier Bennett got so carried away by the exuberance of his own verbosity that the candidacy of poor Waldo became obscured.

Premier Bennett is a good salesman, but he has only one product. His subdued claim that the Social Credit party will form a splinter party in the next parliament betrays the quality of his statesmanship. A splinter party will be no help to Canada.

It is good to see signs of a strong revival in the Conservative party, as every government is healthier with a strong opposition, but, here again, the campaign tactics appear to be to sell one man . . . Diefenbaker.

What Canada needs now is a strong team, and the Liberal party appears to have the best. No other party has such an outstanding individual team-member as Lester Pearson.

Standing Gallup

Your editorial of May 31 "Shown by the Poll" is entirely misleading. The result of the alleged Gallup Poll which was recently published was from information presumably gathered from pollsters at least six weeks ago, for surely considerable time is needed to process the information gathered and produce the final analysis.

Six weeks ago Mr. John Diefenbaker had hardly begun his campaign and had not completed his first visit to Ontario. He had not then begun his triumphant tour of western Canada and his successful swing back to eastern Canada, including Quebec.

Apart from this, the Gallup Poll has been completely wrong on many occasions, most notoriously when it made the last-minute prediction that Thomas Dewey would win over ex-president Harry Truman.

As you are aware, this prediction was completely reversed.

I would suggest that if you are anxious to obtain an accurate picture of the local political situation you do better to stand on the corner of Douglas and Yates and poll passers-by.

The Ground Crumbles Under the U.S. Red China Policy

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THERE can be few left among us who do not have serious doubts about America's China policy. For it is not possible to shrug off the anti-American riots in Formosa as if they were an unfortunate accident which has nothing to do with anything significant. Whether or not there was official complicity, the indubitable fact is that whoever incited, organized, equipped and directed the rioters knew he could count upon a deep and widespread popular resentment against Americans.

This resentment shows that the China policy of the U.S. is not working well even among the Chinese whom we are protecting and subsidizing. It is often supposed that the President is by no means an unqualified believer in our China policy but that for the sake of peace with Congress and inside the administration he has put the issues on ice. Thus in public at least, he has avoided a reappraisal which might be very agonizing to many of his friends.

There is, however, no way of postponing the reappraisal much longer. For it is becoming very evident indeed that our China policy has no future; that time is running out, and that the real question is whether there is still time and opportunity to save the things that matter the most.

Lippmann

What is Washington's China policy? A good way to get at the inner principle of it is to ask and to answer the question, why is the United States uncompromising in its boycott of Red China and so much less uncompromising in its relations with Red Russia?

The key to our policy is the fact that besides the Chinese in Formosa, there are some ten million Chinese in Southeast Asia. In Singapore, they are three-quarters of the population. In Malaya, they are two-fifths of the population.

In those countries which have diplomatic relations with Red China (Burma, Indonesia and Cambodia) the Chinese tend to look to Red China for guidance. In the countries recognizing the Nationalists, such as South Viet-Nam, Thailand and the Philippines, the Chinese tend to look for guidance to Formosa.

Keep Separated

The object of U.S. China policy is to keep the overseas Chinese separated from the Red Chinese government, and thus to prevent it from ruling and from representing all the Chinese.

Some years back when the Nationalist Chinese had been driven off the mainland, and were first installed in Formosa, the overseas Chinese were entitled to believe that eventually, with American help, the Chinese government in Formosa would fight its way back to the mainland and become again the government of all of China.

Thus there was hope for the anti-

Communists that they would go home triumphantly. For the neutrals there was some good reason to remain sitting on the fence.

As long as the Red Chinese were weak and distracted by the problems of the revolution, while the United States, which then had a monopoly of nuclear weapons, was so strong, the China policy had a credible foundation.

It no longer has a credible foundation. When in 1955 President Eisenhower asked Congress for a guarantee of Formosa and the nearby islands, he also took the necessary measures to prevent Chiang from making war-like moves against the mainland.

No Invasion

Indeed, the President put an end to the idea that the United States would back an invasion of the mainland. He went even further and made it clear that the United States would not permit Chiang to attempt an invasion. All this was, no doubt, a sound and prudent diplomatic action to prevent dangerous and foolish adventures.

But it broke the back of our China policy. It deprived the Chinese in Formosa of any hope that they could return to the mainland except by coming to terms with Red China. Ever since then, American China policy has had no future, and has been no more than a holding operation, designed to put off as long as possible a deal among the Chinese themselves.

Washington's attitude toward trade with China and its attitude toward letting American newspapers go to China, are part of this holding operation.

They are a rather desperate and forlorn attempt to keep the Chinese in Formosa from coming to terms with the Chinese on the mainland.

Thus we are trying to induce Britain, Germany and Japan, as well as Western Europe, to restrict trade with Red China more severely than they restrict trade with Red Russia. As this means merely that Russia becomes the broker through which China trades with the rest of the world, the restrictions are not substantial. They are psychological.

The purpose of the restrictions is to make the overseas Chinese feel that all the world, outside of Russia, is the enemy of Red China.

Same Reason

For the same kind of psychological reason, Mr. Dulles and Mr. Robertson do not want to let American newspapers go to Red China. They are afraid it would discourage the overseas Chinese and reduce their determination to oppose Red China.

The rational solution would have been what is called the Two China Policy—to establish Formosa as an independent and neutralized state under the protection of the United Nations as part of the bargain which admitted Red China to the United Nations.

Two Rescued From Downed Helicopter

SEPT-ILES, Que. (CP)—The pilot and a passenger of a helicopter missing since Thursday night turned up safe Sunday at the Mid-Canada radar line.

The men are pilot Bill Coplin, 38, of Minneapolis, and passenger Armand Dion, 37, of Quebec City. They were uninjured in good condition.

Their aircraft went down 16 miles from a unit of the radar line. Dion had started walking at 7 a.m. Sunday, leaving the pilot with the undamaged helicopter, and reached the unit at 5 p.m.

'BREAKNECK SPEED' Motorcyclists Terrorize California Town

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP)—Daredevil elements among 3,700 touring motorcyclists brought the lawlessness of the gold rush back to this sleepy motherlode town of 1,250 Saturday night, roaring at breakneck speed along the main street and littering the curbs with beer cans and bottles.

Authorities, fearful of riotous disorders, brought in reinforcements, arrested 23 cyclists and restored quiet among the speedsters whose "gypsy tour" already has cost three lives and sent 23 spilled riders to hospital at San Andreas, Calif. One of the cyclists, Jerome Toares, 20, of Santa Clara, Calif., died Sunday morning.

For one hour late Saturday, it wasn't safe for anybody to venture out on the two blocks of main street. That was 4 to 5 p.m., but it wasn't until 11 p.m. that complete quiet was restored.

Pflimlin at Crisis In French Cabinet Bid

Socialists Hold Key in Latest Attempt To Form Gov't; Decision Expected Today

PARIS (Reuters)—Catholic politician Pierre Pflimlin today braced himself for the most decisive day in his week-long attempt to form a new French government.

The success of failure of his mission, political observers here say, depends on the attitude of the Socialists, who headed the government led by Guy Mollet and overthrown 13 days ago.

Socialists headed for a meeting today of their ruling national council to define their stand in relation to a new government.

Pflimlin, 50-year-old minister in 14 governments since the Second World War and leader of the Popular Republican Catholic party, will present a "contract" to the major non-Communist parties in parliament. But he pins his main hopes on the Socialists.

He has sought the quickest possible reply to his terms so he can tell President Rene Coty Tuesday whether he feels he can go ahead with forming a new cabinet.

PARIS SOCIALISTS SAY NO
The powerful Socialist Federation of Greater Paris, representing about one-tenth of the party membership in France, approved Sunday a resolution hostile to any participation in the new government.

Pflimlin argued that the Socialists must participate in a new national government if France is to successfully tackle her major problems—headed by the Algerian nationalist insurrection and the saving of the franc.

Pflimlin intended to report Sunday night to President Coty on his progress but had to put off the visit because of a talk with Robert Lacoste, Socialist minister in Algeria, scene of a 30-month revolt against French rule.

Lacoste refused to comment after talks lasting nearly three hours, but usually reliable sources said the men were understood to have reviewed the Algerian situation in the light of recent massacres of Moslems by the insurgents.

Mounties Ride Back Into Lead

By The Associated Press
Vancouver's Mounties—a Cinderella club that refuses to return to the cellar—edged past San Francisco into a four-point Pacific Coast League lead.

The smooth-riding Mounties twice knocked third-place Hollywood into second place, forcing the Seals to settle for a split with the last-place Sacramento Solons Sunday.

Ervin Fallica pitched the Mounties to a first-game 3-0 shutout triumph and Don Ferrarese added a 2-1 nightcap win in a tight pitching duel with Benny Daniels, of the Stars. Daniels, who led all PCL hurlers last week with six straight wins, suffered his second defeat in a week at Vancouver hands.

Righthander Bill Abernathie, in his first starting assignment this season, pitched a one-hit shutout in the nightcap to take some of the sting out of the San Francisco Seals first-game loss to the Solons. Sacramento won the first 5-4 and San Francisco the second 13-0. It was the third win for reliever Abernathie.

Home-run power again gave the Los Angeles Angels what they needed to down San Diego 7-5 in their first encounter—but the Angels couldn't match the bat mileage in the nightcap and lost 3-1. The big Angel blows were by Roy Hartsfield, Jim Baxes and Bert Hanes, while Dave Pope, of the Padres, belted the only four-bagger in the late game.

Seattle smashed a 3-3 eighth-inning deadlock with three runs and went on to defeat Portland 7-3 in their opener. But the Beavers bounced right back to clip the Rainiers 3-1 in the finale.

Polyettes Even Season's Record

Victoria's Polyettes crashed the win column with a bang Sunday.

Polyettes jumped on the defending western Canada champion Vancouver Crowhursts for a double-header sweep at Central Park, 5-3 and 2-1, to even their worst-loss record in the Northwest Women's Major Softball League at 2-2.

Doubles by catcher Lorna Pollock and outfielder Kathy West with two out in the final inning provided Victoria's winning run in the second game. Crowhursts' hitters in the opener.

Jocelyn Richmond displayed top form in throttling the Vancouver squad in the nightcap. She allowed only four hits, including a double and single, in the seventh inning that provided Vancouver with its lone run.

Polyettes scored their first run in the opening frame. Scooter McKenzie, hit by a pitched ball, moved to third after singles by Scotty Polson and Skip Seely and then

Three Straight Against Brooks

By Associated Press

Mayo Smith's slightly startling Philadelphia Phillies, who have displaced Milwaukee and Brooklyn as Cincinnati's foremost rivals for first place in the National League, have hit upon an old but very effective winning formula.

They are getting strong front line pitching, excellent relief hurling, clutch hitting and airtight defense. Does a team need any more?

The second-place Phillies Sunday made it three in a row over Brooklyn with a 5-3 victory, which boosted them to within two games of the Redlegs. The triumph was Philadelphia's ninth in its last 12 games, during which time the Phils picked up 4½ games on the Redlegs.

ALL-IMPORTANT BLOW

It took a grand-slam homer by Bob Thurman to give Cincinnati a split in its double-header with Chicago. The Cubs came back to win the second game 4-2 after a 6-4 defeat.

Milwaukee climbed past Brooklyn into third place with a 3-1 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh swept a double-header from New York Giants 3-2 and 2-0.

Chicago's spectacular White Sox maintained their five-game spread over the rest of the American League field, coming back to defeat Detroit in the second game 4-1 after the Tigers had won the opener 3-1.

Kansas City dropped Cleveland into third place, a half game behind New York, defeating the Indians 8-2. Boston came from behind to overcome Washington 5-3. The Yankees defeated Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had made it three in a row over the world champions with a first-game 3-2 triumph.

REDLEGS SET RECORD

In Saturday action the new Cincinnati scoreboard couldn't keep up with the total as the Redlegs set a season's high for the majors by scoring 22 runs against Chicago. Final score was 22-2 with the Redlegs blasting seven homers.

Sunday the Phillies collected only seven hits off Don Newcombe. Stan Lopata's homer produced three runs in the fourth. Relief pitcher Dick Farrell hit a home run in the eighth.

Starting pitcher Bob Miller allowed Brooklyn only one run until he was relieved by Farrell, with nobody out in the fifth. Farrell yielded only three hits in five innings. (Scores on page 9.)

Digger Sets New Record At Speedway

Digger O'Dell won the race to see who would become the holder of the new lap record for stock cars at Western Speedway.

As expected, the new paved surface at the Millstream Road oval spelled the end of the track record set on the former dirt covering, a total of 18 cars broke the mark set in 1955 by Dave Cooper.

O'Dell wrote his name in the record book when he won the trophy dash in 20.71 seconds, fastest time of the night.

Only nine of 18 starting cars finished the 25-lap main event, won by Digger O'Dell with a 15-length lead over O'Dell. Ray Pottinger was third.

Results follow:
Trophy dash—1, Digger O'Dell; 2, Dave Cooper; 3, Ed Kistner.
First heat—1, Dave Cooper; 2, Dick Willoughby; 3, Ed Kistner.
Second heat—1, Dick Varley; 2, Phil Lambirth; 3, O'Dell.

Ford's Luck Dissolves In Rain

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—Sam Snead charged from behind in a driving rain Sunday to win the Wykagyl round-robin golf championship by eight points over Doug Ford, whose brilliant game and phenomenal luck disintegrated on the final holes.

Behind by 20 points after Ford had birdied the first four holes with a series of breaks and some fine putting, Snead erased the advantage in the next four holes, went ahead with a 40-foot birdie putt on the short 10th and held on for his $3,000 victory.

Snead played the final round of the 4,461-yard, par-71 Wykagyl Country Club course, in 67, picking up 10 points in a pressure-packed foursome including Ford, the Masters champion; Ben Hogan and young Ken Venturi, of San Francisco.

He had a score of plus 41 compared to 33 for Ford, who dropped six points on a par 71. In this so-called "adding machine" open, a player matches his medal score against the other three in his foursome during a 90-hole, five-round tournament in which each contestant faces all others in the select 16-man field.

Hogan, priming for the United States open, June 13-15, at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio, shot 70 but lost two points, finishing in a tie with Tommy Bolt for third place with a score of plus 14. Fred Hawkins, 33-year-old touring pro from El Paso, Texas, followed with a plus 13.

IGA Cup Matches To Be Continued

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Pace Jr., who succeeded the late John Jay Hopkins as president of General Dynamics Corp., has announced he plans to continue the program of the International Golf Association.

"We plan to go ahead with International and Canada Cup matches in Tokyo, Oct. 24-27," Pace said, "and every effort will be made to make the tournament an outstanding event."

Pace is a former secretary of the army and former director of the bureau of the budget. He has been named chairman of the International Golf Association.

Thrift-Conscious Fan Got Money's Worth

Extra-inning contests were the order of the day in Sunday's Senior A Men's Softball League action.

And you can't blame Duncan fans for feeling a mite happy about their Mayo Lumbermen. Mayo went 18 innings with the pace-setting Gorge Hotel squad before finally taking a 9-8 decision from the Victoria team.

You could feel sorry for Arrow Furniture, who led, 9-1, after five innings but then had to settle for a 10-inning, 9-9 draw.

An error opened the door, at Duncan, for the Mayo victory. Dick Chester, safe on an error at first, romped to third while Len Smith was beating out a punt, and then scored the winner on Hugh Williams' sacrifice fly to left field.

Vern Evans sparked the Gorge attack by clouting a three-run homer in the second inning. Bryan McKinley, one of three Duncan hurlers, came upon the scene in the fifth inning and went the rest of the way to get the win. Ab Wiebe went all the way for Gorge. At Central Park, Half Way

Woods, Kerr, Scroggs Best of City Entrants

Par escaped with barely a scratch as scores soared and stars tumbled during the opening rounds of the Victoria Amateur Golf Championships at Victoria Golf Club Sunday.

Battling unpredictable, gusty winds most of the day, none of the divot aces managed to match regulation figures over the par-69 Oak Bay course in the first two rounds of the annual 72-hole tournament.

Little Bob Woods of Colwood, gave par the biggest battle. The former Uplands champion, who reached the semifinals of this year's Vancouver Island Open, fired a one-over 70 in the morning round but skidded to 72 on the 18-hole afternoon trip to finish in a three-way tie for first place.

Sharing the lead at 147 were Colwood's Laurie Kerr, 1957 Island Open king, and Frank Scroggs, another former Uplands champion.

Kerr fired a 75 on his morning trip and came in with a 72 on the second round. Scroggs started with a 72 but needed 75 strokes for his afternoon tour. Three strokes back were Also facing an almost impossible task in next Sunday's final 36 holes in big Vince Clarkson, who went to the finals in the 1956 Island Open. The Colwood redhead carved out rounds of 77 and 82 to share the 159 spot with Jack Storie.

Woods started out with a bogey six on his morning round, but fired birdies on the fifth and sixth holes to go one under par. He picked up another bogey on the 125-yard eighth to make the turn in par 33. His only deviation from regulation figures on the incoming nine was a bogey at the par-three

Babe Ruth Sluggers Enjoy Productive Day

Three Babe Ruth batters had a field day Sunday at Beacon Hill Park when Centennial Optimists played UCT, won 13-9, and Optimists played Tillamook, beating them 11-6.

For Centennial Optimists, the big gun was Ed Pottinger who rapped out four safeties in four at-bats, while on the other side, for UCT, Bruce Morrison led the way to victory as he hammered out a pair of important triples for the team.

Optimist catcher, Ron Frumier, set the pace for his club's win as he clipped out five hits in five plate appearances, including a double and a triple in the total.

Nine walks, by pitcher Charles Rogerson, and four errors by his teammates cost UCT a 15-3 decision at Jaycee Park Sunday against Gyros in the National Little League. In the second game of the day, North Kiwanis picked up a win by downing Odd Fellows No. 1, 7-3.

In Capital City Colt League action at Windsor Park, Victoria Tire Herald's nipped Morrisons 4-3 when John Frumeto doubled, stole third and scored on an error to Don Ballard in the top of the sixth.

The second game of the day featured a 4-2 win by Dowell's Cartage over Pacific Sheet Furnaces on the 10-strikeout pitching of Dowell's Bob Barnes.

A single game was played in the Carnarvon Pony League at Carnarvon Park with Cosmopolitans hammering out seven hits to score an 8-3 win over Rotary.

South African Runner Takes 55-Mile Grind

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters)—Mercer Davies, 32-year-old Johannesburg runner, Friday won the "comrades" marathon, run over a hilly 55-mile course from Pietermaritzburg to Durban.

There were 84 starters in the race, considered one of the most grueling in the world. Davies finished in six hours, 13 minutes and 55 seconds.

PORT ARTHUR, Texas—Paul J. Joranson, 122, Port Arthur, outdistanced Paul Smith, 130, Miami, 10.

Spurs Turn Scot Blood to Water

Tottenham 6, Glasgow 3
EMPIRE STADIUM, Vancouver—Scottish blood ran thin here Saturday night. Famed Glasgow Celtic caused all loyal Scots to swallow hard in a 6-3 triumph by Tottenham Hotspur of the English First Division.

There was a crowd of 21,171 in the stadium and when the skirl of the pipes heralded the Celts, the feeling was that this largest western Canadian football crowd intended this to be Scotland's night.

But the Celts, who finished down the ladder in the Scottish League, found their tradition no match for the overall superiority of the Spurs, runners-up to mighty Manchester.

For, off Saturday, they proved that Glasgow didn't have the right to be considered on a par.

The short team movement of the Spurs sparked by Blanchflower, Harmer and Bob Smith, was predominant. The Celts, with their long ball, kept it close only until half-time when a 2-2 count was fair enough, but left one wondering just when Spurs would break out.

And that they did in tremendous fashion after the intermission.

Fans who attended wishing to see such an exhibition and forgetting their deep-rooted home ties for the while it took, marvelled at the crispness of the Spur attack.

Keeper John Bonnar of Celtic, was equal to the test and, despite the six goals that passed him, was the stopper who prevented a rout.

As time ran to a close and Spurs paused in their efforts,

TOMMY HARMER... troubled Celts

Celts made a game bid to salvage some respect and goalie Ron Reynolds was well tested, giving way only to centre forward Billy MacPhail.

Quickly from the start came the first scoring moves.

Bob Smith was through for Spurs to pass Bonnar easily and Celtic, on the return minutes later, equalized through Eric Smith as the ball seemed to escape Reynolds to trickle into the corner.

Pressure by Spurs was the key and inside left Alf Stokes put Tottenham ahead at 23 minutes with a drive off the post past a helpless keeper.

A penalty for hands against back half Ron Henry gave Celtic a break and Willie Fernie scored at 38 minutes to supply the 2-2 tally.

But with the start of the second half Spurs sent shivers through all loyal Scots.

First it was John Brook, outside left, then Bob Smith again (with his 15th goal of the tour), to be followed by Danny Blanchflower with a whistling first timer.

Stokes got his second at 26 minutes and Spurs rested on their laurels, MacPhail easing some of the Celtic pain of heart near the close.

The artists were the Spurs. Sad of heart, Celtic left their friends.

Tonight, Spurs meet B.C. and the thought is that their chores may be more difficult.

Breaking records has become a habit with Dave Gayton.

The 14-year-old star of Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club holds four Canadian marks, but just to show he hasn't lost the touch, shattered one of his own records in the B.C. championship swimming gala at the Crystal Garden Saturday night.

Gayton, who also won the provincial 50-yard freestyle crown in his division, sliced nine-tenths of a second from his own record in the B.C. intermediate breaststroke record as he splashed the distance in 31.2 seconds. The time also bettered the senior Dominion mark for the event.

Although fast times were recorded in most of the other 19 events, Gayton was the only swimmer to better an existing record.

Biggest winner among the Victoria entrants was Janie Wheaton of Victoria YMCA, who captured intermediate titles in freestyle and breaststroke events.

Otto Waitzner of the host Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, was close behind with a victory in the 50-yard breaststroke and a runner-up finish in the 100-yard butterfly senior events.

PERSONAL CHEQUING ACCOUNT

the new thrifter way to pay personal bills by cheque

If you now pay your personal and household bills by cheque, drawn against a Savings Account, then a Royal Bank PERSONAL CHEQUING ACCOUNT is tailor-made for you!

Here's how a PERSONAL CHEQUING ACCOUNT works...

When you operate a PERSONAL CHEQUING ACCOUNT, you use a special cheque book (containing 10 or 20 cheques—whichever you prefer) on which you prepay service charges at the new low rate of 10¢ a cheque. There are no other service charges of any kind!

No time is lost at the bank when you use a PERSONAL CHEQUING ACCOUNT, because there is no passbook to write up. Instead, you make your deposits using a special deposit slip, in duplicate, retaining the carbon copy.

We mail your cancelled cheques and a complete statement of deposits and withdrawals every three months. The cancelled cheques are proof that bills have been paid, and the up-to-date statement lets you know exactly how your personal finances stand.

Important—

We recommend very strongly that you retain your present SAVINGS ACCOUNT on which you earn regular interest. A Personal Chequing Account is for making payments by cheque—A Savings Account is for saving money!

Twamley, Woolfson Spark Cricket Wins

Alcos, getting a 54-run effort from Ben Twamley, scored a hard-fought 17-run victory over Five Cs in a Victoria and District Cricket Association match at Windsor Park Sunday.

Batting first, Alcos ran up a total of 124 runs, then had a battle on their hands to hold the determined Cs to 107 runs.

A-Smith with 26 runs, Jim Richards, 25 not out, and C. Pugh, 22, paced the losers' batsmen.

Albions found the Oak Bay combination of Zerrick Woolfson and Jack Sparks too hot to handle at Beacon Hill Saturday and went down to their first defeat of the season.

Woolfson, a former Irish cricketer with the Leinster county side, took four wickets for 24 runs as Albions were dismissed for only 38 runs, then batted 22 not out as the Bays passed the Albion total with six wickets in hand.

Sparks turned in an even more deadly bit of bowling as he took six wickets for only 12 runs. At bat, he had 12 not out when stumps were drawn.

Yellow Point Play Wins B.C. Festival

VERNON (CP)—Yellow Point drama group from Vancouver won the B.C. festival of drama groups, with top honors in the fifth B.C. drama festival.

Its play, "Sganarelle" by Moliere, was directed by Anne Mossman. Watkin Mossman, who played the title role, was judged the best actor by adjudicators Joy Coghill Thorne and John Thorne. Best actress was Anne McReynolds of Burnaby Little Theatre, for her interpretation of "Silver Lotus" in Norman William "Battle of Wits." Al Kozlik, in the same cast, was the best supporting actor.

Fire Truck In Service At Crofton

CROFTON—Saturday was a red letter day for the Crofton Volunteer Fire Department—its new fire truck was officially placed in service.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison officiated at the brief ceremony. For years, the reeve said, Crofton has been the "Cinderella" of municipal fire departments, receiving no financial assistance from the municipality and operating on a shoestring, firemen buying much of their own equipment.

"They have built up a service which they and the people of this community can be proud, and in so doing have aroused the admiration of the entire municipality," he said.

Fire Chief Tom Hall traced history and growth of the department from May, 1948, when it was organized by himself and Stan Dyke.

Building Permit Total in Nanaimo Tops '56 Figure

NANAIMO—The number of building permits is down but total construction value here to the end of May is up compared with the same period last year.

The year's total is $1,848,612 for 175 permits; last year to May's end 218 permits totalled $1,668,915. However, figures for May alone showed a drop of $74,385 compared with 1956. In May this year 47 permits worth $163,465 were taken out as against 55 permits worth $237,850 in May, 1956.

Cumberland Kinsmen 'Invade' Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—Fifteen Cumberland Kinsmen invaded Chemainus Friday for an inter-club visit with the local club.

The Cumberland Kin travelled to Chemainus in a specially chartered bus and kept the meeting in an uproar with his jokes.

Reason for the invasion stemmed from a visit to Cumberland a few months ago by the Chemainus club. In some manner, the local delegation made off with Cumberland's gavel and stand.

Friday night, president Joe Carmichael returned Cumberland's gavel and other property to their president, Joe Francischini.

Salmon Runs Unendangered By Somass River Pulp Mill

Operation of the pulp mill now under construction will not affect salmon runs into the Somass River system, according to A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries, who announced in Vancouver today that protection of the runs has been assured.

Pulp mills, which normally discharge chemical effluent that can be harmful and even lethal to fish life, are watched closely by the Department of Fisheries and its scientific arm, the Fisheries Research Board of Canada.

In the original Port Alberni plant the effluent was discharged into the estuary of the Somass River, but the volume of the stream was enough to carry and disperse harmful chemicals over a wide area so that no harm to fish resulted.

Plans for the expansion altered the situation. Oceanographic studies by Dr. John P. Tully of the Pacific Oceanographic Group at Nanaimo revealed that at certain Best original play "From Little Acorns Grow" was written and directed by Mrs. A. L. Bowron of Duncan Little Theatre Guild.

Scholarships at the UBC Summer School of Theatre and Banff School of Theatre went to Cecil Glass of Prince George and Marjorie Montezuma of Dawson Creek. Also awarded a scholarship to Banff School of Theatre was M. McPhee of Dawson Creek, who directed the entry from that community.

Adjudicator John Thorne said that Watkin Mossman turned in a "dynamic performance, and is a talented comedian." Among those receiving honorable mention were: Joan Morgan, Yellow Point Drama Group and Ruth Murrell, Duncan Little Theatre.

L. J. Wallace, Community Programs Branch, department of education, Victoria, said the 1956 drama festival will be held in Burnaby.

Ladysmith Girl Wins $2,000 Prize

LADYSMITH—Carolyn Wallace, of Ladysmith, was awarded a $2,000 Crown Zellerbach scholarship Friday when seven other students also won scholarships at closing ceremonies for graduating students of Grade XII.

The girl's award covers five years in teaching training at the University of British Columbia.

Other award winners were Deagun Svetic, $400; MacMillan & Blodell Ltd. scholarship, Irene Couch of Chemainus; $200 general education MacMillan & Blodell award; Geraldine Reiter of North Oyster; $200 Rotary of Chemainus bursary; Sheila Morrison of Ladysmith; $150 District 47 Parent-Teacher council bursary; Bridget Gaudin of Saanich; $150 Ladysmith District Teachers bursary; Gladys Hindmarch, $100 Miter and Prince bursary; and Lila Mubola, $50 bursary donated by Mrs. D. R. Quale for girls entering nursing.

250 Enjoy Recital By Dunbar

Expressive baritone John Dunbar presented his first public solo program here Friday before an audience of 250 in Oak Bay Junior High School.

The 90-minute recital was sponsored by the area Girl Guides' Association.

Capable accompanist was Malcolm Hamilton.

Mrs. Buckner Heads Chemainus PTA Group CHEMAINUS—Mrs. J. Buckner was re-elected president of Chemainus PTA group at the annual meeting.

In the original Port Alberni plant the effluent was discharged into the estuary of the Somass River, but the volume of the stream was enough to carry and disperse harmful chemicals over a wide area so that no harm to fish resulted.

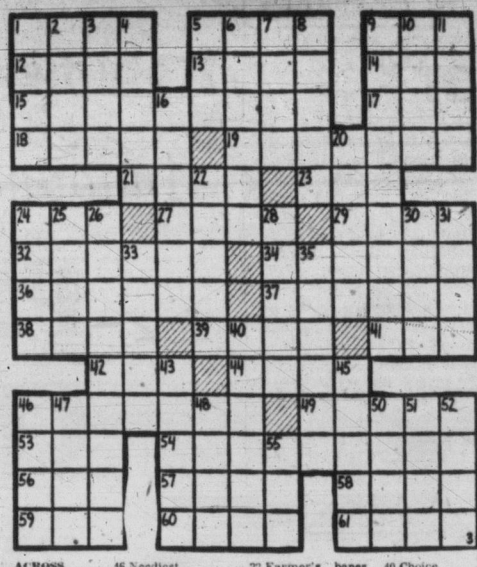

Plans for the expansion altered the situation. Oceanographic studies by Dr. John P. Tully of the Pacific Oceanographic Group at Nanaimo revealed that at certain Stages of low water in the Somass the increased effluent would accumulate at the river entrance and could be dangerous to fish. Department of Fisheries biologists and engineers teamed with the Fisheries Research Board to devise plans for the protection of salmon runs. The pulp company adopted them and incorporated special fishery requirements in all over-all expansion plans.

Water will be stored in Great Central Lake and released when necessary to keep the mouth of the river clear at all times. In addition the pulp company will build a trestle which will carry the waste through a pipeline 1,000 feet into the middle of the harbor.

During the pack's ramble to Polly's Point a contest was held to see which cub could find the most varieties of wild flowers. Jimmy Burgess was the winner, he found 39 varieties.

Shirley Bloomer Wins PARIS (UP)—Shirley Bloomer of England won the women's singles championship in the French international tennis championships with a 6-1, 6-3 triumph over Dorothy Head Knodel of Forest Hills, N.Y., Saturday.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other attractive prizes? Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second questioner a 10-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the third questioner a 5-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition).

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Linda Leach, aged 12, of Shreveport, La., for her question:

What is a mongoose?

If you get to the Cinerama Seven Wonders of the World, you will watch a mongoose in action. The furry little animal looks like something between a weasel and a cat and he is doing battle with a deadly snake. This is the star performance of a mongoose, for he is just about the best snake fighter in the world. A duel between the two mortal enemies, the snake and the mongoose, is well worth watching.

In appearance, the mongoose looks like a short-legged, fox-faced house cat. Also like a cat, he seems to have a double personality. He can take care of himself in the wild or settle down as an adorable family pet. He loves people and even a wild mongoose will walk up to satisfy his curiosity about human beings. We would expect such a fearless, curious little fellow to be intelligent, for fearlessness leads to knowledge. This is certainly true of the mongoose. He is a very smart little darling.

You would never guess that this two-foot long bundle of soft fur would dare to attack a seven foot snake. But he does, and he almost always wins. That lithe graceful body is a powerhouse of speed and muscle. What's more, he has brains and a snake is not a very smart animal. The big snake is too stupid to keep up with the rushes, dodges and tricks of the little mongoose.

In the Cinerama movie, the mongoose looks much bigger than he really is. This is a mongoose trick. At the first sniff of a snake, before the fight begins, the little fighter stands his fur up on end, even the fur of his short fluffy tail. When the snake strikes, he hopes to get a mouthful of mongoose meat, but gets only a mouthful of fur for his trouble. The fluffed-up mongoose forces him to strike short of his mark.

It takes time and a lot of effort for the snake to launch himself for each strike. Meanwhile the little mongoose is plotting the moves and getting set to spring nimbly out of the way. The little pink mouth is always open, ready to take a nip and goad the snake into one useless lunge after another. After each strike, the snake's head and neck are flat on the ground. This is when the mongoose leaps in to take a nip at the back of his enemy's head. The duel ends when the snake is so tired he can strike no more. Then the mongoose gives a killing bite and starts his dinner. He begins with the snake's head, devouring poison glands and all. After a while, he takes a nap then wakes up and goes right on with the feast.

As the mortal enemy of snakes, the little mongoose is a valuable animal in his native lands. He also destroys rats, mice and other rodent pests. He can live in the wild or share life with a human family. In either case, like a good farm cat, much of his time is spent fighting the enemies of his human friends.

Second Arrowsmith group held a "family fete on the Sterling field Saturday evening. Displays were given by Cubs, Scouts, Guides, Brownies and Rangers. Later there were games and dancing on the tennis court.

The proceed of the evening will go towards sending Scouts to the Jamboree in England, and Guides to the International Camp in Ontario.

David Koch who has been a Scout with the troop since 1954 has resigned. A very able Scout, he will be greatly missed. Phil Wright has taken over as Scoutmaster.

Fifth troop had an overnight camp at Sproat Lake. Top patrol was the Buffaloes. Then came Stags, Cougar and Owls.

Fifth Arrowsmith Pack Cubs awarded badges: house orderly, Glen Hardy, Howard Hilton, Malcolm Rhodes, Brent McLean; toymakers, Brent McLean, Malcolm Rhodes, and Brian Wagstaff; homecraft, Garry Grunland.

Lorne Anderson has been invested as a Wolf Cub. During the pack's ramble to Polly's Point a contest was held to see which cub could find the most varieties of wild flowers. Jimmy Burgess was the winner, he found 39 varieties.

Bilingualism Need Stressed by PM

(By The Canadian Press) Prime Minister St. Laurent said at St. Damien, Que., Sunday the time is coming when high-placed members of the federal government will have to speak both French and English.

He told an election rally he had expressed that view in the past and had scandalized his audience.

But his prediction is coming true even now, he said. One saw many English-speaking officials practicing French phrases. They were very proud when they had mastered them.

French and English are Canada's official languages and always will be, the prime minister aid. Bilingualism was one way to develop national unity.

Mr. St. Laurent is scheduled to finish his Quebec tour with a speech in Montreal tonight, then leaves for a campaign trip in Ontario.

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell fired a tentative television shot from Regina at Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker. He said "understanding" between the Progressive Conservative and Ontario Premier Frost might mean a larger share of federal taxes for the central province at the cost of "less fortunate" provinces.

Mr. Diefenbaker meanwhile told a Minto, N.B., audience "power-mad" members of the Liberal federal government are forcing provinces and municipalities into the position of beggars. But if a Conservative government were elected, he would call a federal-provincial municipal conference intended to relieve the "frightful load" he said the non-central governments now are carrying.

At Almyer, Ont., Social Credit chief Solon Low, discussed the British-French landing in Egypt and claimed Britain and France had "a perfect right" to go into Suez and "Canada should have supported them until they completed their mission."

Tony Wattie Senior Winner At Glenlyon

Three students swept top honors at the annual sports day of Glenlyon School Saturday.

PORT ALBERNI CADETS WIN NADEN CONTESTS

More than 250 Vancouver Island Sea Cadets took part in the annual inter-corps sports competitions Saturday at HMCS Naden which saw the Port Alberni corps edge out four other cadet groups.

Port Alberni cadets won the aggregate plaque with 16 points; Malagu corps of Duncan got 13 points; Amphion of Nanaimo won 12; Victoria cadets won 11 and de Wolf cadets of Campbell River were awarded seven points.

Main events included a whaler race, rifle team contest and track and field events.

The cadets attended church here Sunday at St. Andrew's Cathedral and Metropolitan United Church.

Brian Sneade, Judy Griffiths S. J. Willis Senior Sport Champs

Brian Sneade racked up 13 points to win the senior boys' championship in sports day events at S. J. Willis Junior High School Friday.

Senior girls' champion was Judy Griffiths, 15 points. Intermediate honors went to Gary Zilkie and Charlie Rees, tied with eight points and Joyce Murrant, 15 points.

In the junior division, Ranjit Dillon and Alvin Love tied with 13 points, and Barbara Pudsey stepped out with another 13.

An aggregate of 168 points won first place in boys' and girls' events for House 3. Second was House 1 with an aggregate of 134 and third, House 2, 85 points.

5,000 See Shrine End Funfest With Colorful Pageant in Arena

Visiting Shriners wrapped up a two-day spring ceremonial Saturday night with a peppy pageant in Memorial Arena.

Almost 5,000 Victorians attended the show, sitting through temperatures that reached 80 degrees in the higher seats.

Unofficial guest of honor was Roberta Ratcliffe, 11, of Mount Newton Crossroad, Saanichton. Roberta was crippled with cerebral palsy at the age of two and has been receiving treatment at the Shriners' Hospital in Portland. During the evening she presented a bouquet to Miss

The vivid show was sparked by comedian pianist Jimmy Fisher of Vancouver. The only Shriner without the familiar fez, he wore a baggy suit and pork-pie hat, and announced his first number as "Get Out of the Wheat Field Mother — You're Going Against the Grain."

Their fezes glittering under bright lights, Vancouver's Gizeh Temple Chanters added to the variety show flavor with their harmony. They dedicated their

Kasper Conviction Of Rioting Upheld

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Saturday upheld the contempt of court conviction of race segregationist John Kasper on grounds the freedom of speech amendment "does not confer the right to persuade others to violate the law."

Kasper, 27, white citizens council organizer and former New York bookseller, was sentenced to one year in prison in connection with inflaming a three-day riot at Clinton last August.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special meeting of the Vancouver and New Westminster District Council of the Civil Service Federation of Canada has asked Prime Minister St. Laurent to announce salary increases before the June 10 federal election.

The request was contained in a resolution passed unanimously Sunday night by 300 delegates.

Members also urged the Civil Service Federation of Canada to continue efforts for a negotiation procedure similar to the Whitley Council in Great Britain. W. Hewitt-White, federation national vice-president, said such a procedure would take the politics out of the situation.

Federal Servants Urge PM Act on Salary Hike

TORONTO (CP)—More than 2,000 members of the Civil Servants' Federation Sunday supported a motion asking Prime Minister St. Laurent for an immediate decision on their request for a national salary increase.

The government announced salary increases for professional civil servants May 9.

Stressing that the meeting was not a political rally, F. W. Whitehouse, president of the 70,000-member federation, urged civil servants to refrain from making political utterances that might find their way into the newspapers.

The members also endorsed the federation's move to have the question of civil servants' salaries left out of the political arena. Mr. Whitehouse said the federation resents the fact politicians have made a political issue of their salary.

"We don't like it and we are not going to stand for it," he said.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in an election campaign address at Cobourg, Ont., last month his government was postponing until after the election the matter of general salary increases for civil servants.

Commenting on an Ottawa newspaper's estimate that civil servants' wages would be increased by from 4.5 to 7 per cent, Mr. Whitehouse said, the federation would never accept it.

"We have asked for a 10 per cent interim increase and if we do not get it by July it will have to be a 12 per cent hike," he said.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

SUN PROMISED TO VICTORIA BY VANCOUVER WEATHERMAN

The Victoria area is solemnly promised another honey of a sunny day, by no less an authority than Vancouver's weatherman.

Victoria's regular forecaster, Bill Mackie, is in Ottawa for head office consultations. Filling in is Frank Williams, Vancouver, who says: "Of course there'll be no precipitation while I'm here."

Continuing his co-operative mood, Mr. Williams forecasts ideal temperatures around the 70 mark today, just a light layer of cloud, and more of the same Tuesday.

JUDY BOOTS

(Barking for Monte Roberts)

My friends keep asking me what it is like to live in the same house with a kitten-size cat and when my friends ask me a question I am bound to answer for I am Judy Boots Streak the friend of all the people.

I am also the female-type doggie who lives at the Old Man's House and which the Old Man every once in a while makes me fill up this space to earn by bed and bone.

Well the first thing about living in a house with a kitten-size cat I was quite happy about the whole thing I thought the Old Man would make the kitten-size cat fill up this space thus giving me a holiday.

But did any such of a thing happen no it did not the kitten-size cat is apparently a privileged character and does not have to do anything for her bed and bone except look cute which I admit she does if you like kittenish looks.

The kitten-size cat has been named by the Old Man he has named her (she is a female-type too like me only a cat not a dog) he has named her Little Miss Muffett now I ask you how corny can you get?

Besides which this is not even a good name for her Little Miss Muffett is supposed to sit on a tuffet and stay there until something frightens her away well this kitten-size cat isn't frightened of anything and the only time she sits on her tuffet is when she is laying in wait for me ready to pounce.

When she is not sitting on her tuffet which is most of the time the kitten-size cat is flying through the air with the greatest ease for sitting on the Old Man's shoulder nibbling his ear or eating great quantities of expensive delicacies such as potato peelings.

During the daytime when the folks are away is the only time the kitten-size cat looks like Little Miss Muffett for then she curls up on her tuffet and sleeps and sleeps and sleeps. The reason she does this is so she will be good and rested so she will have lots of energy to bounce around the house and keep everybody awake including me when everybody wants to sleep including me.

But don't misunderstand me I like the kitten-size cat fine only I hope she grows up soon and becomes real dignified as a cat should be and then we will have a peaceful time around the house and not live a cat's life.

'JUST POOR IMMIGRANTS'

Possible Irish Sweep Winner Has Eye on Washing Machine

By NORMAN CIBBENS

A Victoria woman who stands to win up to $140,000 in the Irish sweepstakes next Wednesday scrubbed her way through a mountain of soiled clothes this morning.

It was Monday wash day as usual for dainty blue-eyed Mrs. Kathleen Bones, 1762 Carrick, and she didn't even have a washing machine to help her out.

"We're just poor immigrants," laughs Mrs. Bones in her litting Northern Ireland brogue. "We've been so busy fixing our home here we haven't any money over for luxuries."

Even if Mrs. Bones doesn't win a top prize in the sweep on England's Epsom Derby Wednesday she will receive approximately $1,200 as one of 22 Canadian tickets who have drawn horses—and a washing machine will be high on the list of new household purchases.

MAY VISIT HOME
Should she get one of the 18 first prizes of $140,000, Mrs. Bones will probably take a quick trip home to her native Ballymena which she left three years ago.

"But I'm not thinking about that yet," she said. The draw concludes today with the prize fund set at $6,206,000. There will be 18 first prizes of $140,000 each, 18 second prizes of $56,000 and 18 third prizes of $28,000.

Holders of non-starters receive anything from $56 to $280. Mrs. Bones and her husband, Robert, 49-year-old plumber who works for Flinders Installation Ltd., Crofton, bought two consecutive tickets.

The lucky one was NHW-18489 drawn on the horse Mystic Prince.

GOOD AT HOOP-LEA
Mrs. Bones had never won a luck prize before—not even a raffle in a church bazaar.

"But I used to win prizes at hoop-LEA, throwing rings over teapots and flower vases. I was pretty good at that."

To Canadian ears Mrs. Bones sounds like a Highland Scot but, as she explains, Scottish people settled in northern Ireland centuries ago "and we get our brogue from them."

Mr. and Mrs. Bones migrated to Victoria in 1954 after their sons, Kenneth, 21, and Robert, 19, had already settled here. They have two other children—Helen, who works for the B.C. Purchasing Commission, and Sylvia, a student at Oaklands School.

LIKE VICTORIA
Kenneth is now with the Bank of Montreal at Prince Rupert. Robert works for Underwood Typewriters on Fort Street.

"Victoria is the loveliest place in the world and we have no desire to return to Ireland to live. But if I win the sweep I may take a holiday trip back."

Other B.C. ticket holders, names or non-debuters, their ticket numbers and horses are: G. Cairns, Vancouver, NDV 10637, Ballymoss; Lucky 13, Vancouver, NHS 85908, Ballymoss; Billy, Vancouver, PRS 09503, Alcaustus; Barry Holly Lee, Vancouver, PRS 90964, Creppo (the favorite); Timmy, Vancouver, NHS 897188, Zek-toun; Helen Young, Vancouver, PQT 86767, Royaumont; Dog House, Burnaby, PQA 82119, London Cry; Paul Perron, Marguerite, Vancouver, NEP 74240, Messmate; Penny One, North Vancouver, PRV 44275, Prince Taj.

The Irish government takes about $658,000 in stamp taxes, while another $1,974,000 is to be distributed among the hospitals.

Scout 'Engineers' Stage Display At District Camp

Bridges were built, aerial tramways constructed, and tree houses occupied on the weekend for the benefit of the public attending a display at the new Boy Scout campsite on Kangaroo Road in Metchoosin.

District Scoutmaster Chris Pike was in charge of the camp, in which Scouts from Windsor Park, Metchoosin, Sooke, Luxton and Langford took part.

Frank Nelson, assistant district commissioner for Scouts, paid the camp a visit and Art Chamberland, assistant commissioner for training, conducted the campfire Saturday night at which a number of visitors were present.

Seats Still on Hand For Kinsmen Bingo

Victoria Kinsmen said today there are still plenty of seats available for their sixth giant bingo tonight at Memorial Arena.

At noon today, some 5,200 tickets had been sold and another 2,500 were still available. Those not sold during the afternoon will go on sale at the door tonight.

For past bingos, tickets have been sold out by noon and the Kinsmen are hopeful of filling the arena again tonight.

Main prize is a $3,000 two-door Ford automobile. In addition there are 13 major prizes for game winners, including television sets, deep freezers, refrigerators and other household goods in the $300-$500 price range.

As a special feature, there will be a draw for a "surprise" bonus prize.

In their past giant bingos the Kinsmen have raised about $25,000, of which some $20,000 is being held for a community project still under consideration.

At a weekend meeting, the club decided to pay the new 10 per cent provincial amusement tax on tonight's proceeds and then apply for a refund of a portion of the tax because it is a charitable organization.

The Kinsmen intend, however, to make representations to the government later to free it completely from the tax.

Sproat Lake Claims Life Of Youngster

Flounders From Floating Tube

ALBERNI—Ten-year-old Andrew Bolme of North Surrey drowned in nearby Sproat Lake Sunday afternoon in four feet of water while playing off Smith's Landing on the eastern shore.

The boy couldn't swim. His body was discovered by accident by OS Gerald Slots, 20, of HMC Naden, who was visiting his parents in Alberni.

The drowned boy had been visiting his sister, Mrs. Edward Mills, 205 Montrose here, with whom OS Slots had hitch-hiked a ride earlier to Alberni.

The boy had been playing with a young friend, both using inner tubes, off the end of the landing.

He apparently worked his way out of the inner tube. His companion noticed him floundering but thought he was only playing. He left the Bolme lad and went to shore.

OS Slots came across the body only 10 minutes later.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bolme, 12776 Trans-Canada Highway, North Surrey.

MEDICAL PLAN READY FOR STRIKE ACTION

Special provisions for premium collections in the event of a strike by provincial civil servants have been set by the B.C. Government Employees Medical Services.

J. B. Paul, secretary-treasurer, said cash collections would be made from each member in place of the regular payroll deduction.

A special meeting of the group was held in Vancouver Saturday to discuss the situation.

Funeral services were held at McCall's Chapel Sunday for Mrs. Norman Cook, 555 Newport, who died Friday in Royal Jubilee Hospital after a lingering illness.

The crowded chapel and a profusion of flowers gave testimony of the many friends Mrs. Cook had made during the years she lived in Victoria.

Born in Moose Jaw, Sask., Mrs. Cook was a member of a well-known pioneer prairie family. She came to this city in 1933 when her husband, Dr. Norman Cook, opened his practice here.

For many years she was active in club and auxiliary work in Victoria and even during her long illness continued to take a keen interest in work of women's groups, especially the Junior Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital, of which she had been an active member. She was also a member of the Victoria Golf Club and the University Women's Club.

Surviving besides her husband are three sons, David, Ronald and William, all at home; three brothers, Barclay Green, Alfred Green, Jack Green and three sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Frances) Pascoe, Miss Eva Green, Mrs. Roy (Mary) Johnson, all of Moose Jaw, and another sister, Mrs. Hugh (Sarah) Hunter, Vancouver, as well as many nephews and nieces.

Cremation followed the service.

Wind Fans Flames In Duncan Fire; Home Damaged

Extensive damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bristow, Herd Road, three miles north of Duncan, occurred about 5 p.m. Sunday when fire, believed to have started in nearby sheds, was swept by wind to the house.

No one was injured. Estimate of damage has not been set.

The sheds and contents, of undisclosed value, were totally burned. They were on the property of G. W. Braithwaite, whose home was also scorched on one side.

Neighbors removed all the furniture from the Bristow home, where Mrs. Bristow was alone at the time.

The fire was believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion in one of the sheds.

5th Traffic Fatality In District This Year

Elderly Langford resident Capt. George A. Laird, 79, 2763 Winstler, became Greater Victoria's fifth traffic fatality this year when he died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital.

He suffered fatal injuries in collision with a car on Atkins Road, Langford, about 10 p.m. May 24.

Previously charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident was Robert Rory Fraser, 18, 1005 Dunford, who was remanded without plea when he appeared in Colwood RCMP court the morning after the accident.

Fraser is charged with being driver of a car which failed to remain at the scene.

APPEARS FRIDAY
No further charge has been laid, but RCMP say investigation is continuing and Fraser is due to appear on the first charge Friday of this week.

Capt. Laird suffered multiple injuries including a fractured leg and a head injury.

Investigation after the accident resulted in Fraser being taken into custody the same night. He was held until charged.

TO MEET WIFE
A well-known coast tugboat skipper, Capt. Laird was believed to have been going to meet his wife at St. Mary's Priory, Langford, when the accident took place.

The car apparently crashed into a CPR right-of-way fence nearby after the collision, and Fraser was assisted by neighbors in disentangling the car from the fence.

A few minutes later, pedestrians on Atkins found the injured man lying unconscious about five feet off the road.

Langford ambulance was summoned and Capt. Laird was admitted at St. Joseph's at 10:30 p.m.

Mayor Enlarges Centennial Body

Mayor Percy Scourrah said today he will add to the city committee on a B.C. Centennial year project in hope of hastening a recommendation.

G. Conway Parrott, chamber of commerce director, will be one of two appointees.

Mayor Scourrah said he has not decided on the second, but neither will be a member of council.

Several names are being considered," said the mayor. He added that the present committee, consisting of Ald. G. I. Edgewood, Ald. E. D. McEwen and Ald. Austin L. Curtis, "... has had difficulty in getting a quorum."

DOOR STILL OPEN
City council recently decided to proceed with planning for a project for the city exclusively, but later indicated the door is still open to consideration of a joint project with Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

The four municipalities are agreed on joint celebrations and the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee, including the city aldermen listed above, and chaired by Ald. Edgewood, was to meet this afternoon.

Numerous projects have been considered so far but none adopted. Recent thinking at City Hall is that it should be one which could be completed within the amount readily available.

GALLERY PROPOSED
This would amount to about $65,000. It would be made up from a provincial Centennial grant of 60 cents per capita plus a matching amount put up by the city.

Under study unofficially at present is a scheme to adopt the long-planned addition to Victoria Art Gallery as a city project.

Business Tries Electronic Help

A B.C. businessman had an electronic secretary (telephone recorder) installed in his office. But he didn't keep it long.

"I get no business out of it," he complained to the B.C. Telephone Co., "only rude messages from boys who ring up before I get to the office."

One of the messages was: "You are a silly old twerp."

"Otherwise we have had no complaints," an official of B.C. Telephone said today as more than 150 executives and delegates of Canada's major telephone companies assembled at the Empress for the 28th annual meeting of the Telephone Association of Canada.

Between 50 and 60 electronic secretaries have been installed in Greater Vancouver and six in Victoria.

Drug stores find the telephone recorder useful for taking prescriptions after hours.

The prescriptions are made up early in the morning and are ready when customers call.

Stockbrokers are also using the device for recording messages from speculators and some firms use it when there is an overflow of calls at the switchboard.

The recorder automatically lifts the receiver when a call is received and says: "Mr. So-and-So is out. Will you please leave a message?"

Thomas W. Eadie, president of the Trans-Canada Telephone System, says visual telephone calls, in which callers can see one another as they talk, are still in the experimental stage.

"But they could eventually become commercial," he says.

LOUDSPEAKERS
Loudspeaker phones, obviating the need for a handset, are growing in popularity. If you wish to keep the conversation private, you lift the handset and the speaker automatically switches off.

The Canadian telephone industry made a record increase of nearly 350,000 phones in 1956, bringing the total to 4,500,000 at the end of the year. Stuart R. Muirhead of Regina, president of the telephone association, told delegates today.

"This compares with 222,000 in 1956, and is the largest figure ever achieved in a single year," said Mr. Muirhead, who is deputy minister and general manager of Saskatchewan Government Telephones.

He noted that unfilled orders for service had been reduced from about 80,000 to about 45,000 during 1956.

"Long-distance business grew at a rapid rate in 1956," Mr. Muirhead continued.

He said the radar protection screen known as the Mid-Canada line had been largely completed during 1956 by the Trans-Canada Telephone System.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A total of $2,010 was raised by the Gorge Road Hospital Auxiliary at a tag day in Victoria and Oak Bay Saturday.

The money will be used towards the purchase of a station wagon-ambulance.

Establishment of the proposed "good music" station, CFAX in Saanich, must await outcome of CBC standards of present program standards in this area, Saanich Broadcasting Co. president Ellison Queale said Saturday.

He said CFAX licence application would likely come before the CBC board of governors again in August or September, and predicted it granted a licence then "we will be on the air by Christmas."

Kenneth L. Harbor, 40, Seattle, was sentenced in city police court today to one day in jail for defrauding a local hotel of $19.

He had been in custody four days.

B.C. Rest Home Association, Vancouver Island branch, will meet at the home of George L. Buchan, 2311 Wark Street, Friday, June 14, at 8 p.m.

At a weekend meeting in Nanaimo, Mrs. Amy Brisbin of Victoria was re-elected president.

Vice-president is Mrs. Ellen Clark of Nanaimo; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Hazel Fee of Duncan.

City Firms Fined For Tax Violation

Two city firms were each fined $25 when they pleaded guilty in city police court today to failing to file 1956 income tax returns.

Firms were Admark Ltd., 710 Johnson, and Arthur Browne Ltd.

Scenes of Victoria in Hasty Notes and Cards

By PENNY SAVER

Not only tourists, but Victorians as well are buying up the lovely post cards that show beauty spots of our city. These cards are water color reprints in black and white and show favorite places we all know so well. Scenes at Butchart's Gardens, Beacon Hill Park, and waterfront glimpses are artistically done. They come in boxes of 10, with two cards of each scene.

Instead of jotting a note on a conventional bit of stationery, drop your friends news on these cards. If they are from Victoria, they'll enjoy the cards even more than those people who have never seen the city. The boxes are $1.50 each.

A new shipment of travellers' clothes lines has arrived just in time for you holiday planners. These lines are of hard-wearing and strong twisted rubber covered with fabric. On one end is a loop and on the other end a hook. For travelling, they are wonderful. Just loop one end of the line over a door knob or such, and hook the other end to a nearby surface. To hang nylons and such to dry, separate the strands of the twist and loop a piece of the material in it. No pins, to mark material or take up extra space. When the article is dry, a gentle pull will release it. The lines are yours for 69 cents.

On Etiquette

May I wear black to a wedding?

Is it wholly improper for an aunt of the bride to wear black at the wedding? We've discussed this matter many times and always come up with a 'blank'. I do not wear light colors well and prints are extremely unflattering. I have heard that black is thumbs down for the immediate family, but is it not right to wear what looks best on you? Summer black is quite stylish and if touched off with white accessories, can it be worn for this occasion?

Louise Davis answers:

It isn't wholly improper to wear black, but it is advisable if possible to avoid it. Are you sure that black is the only color you can wear? Could it be that you are so accustomed to it that you feel self-conscious in anything else and therefore are convinced that nothing else is becoming? Perhaps you can compromise on grey. When you go shopping, take someone along who has good color sense and style judgment and see what happens. But if you feel that you would be miserable or unhappy, then wear black, but try to offset it with a contrast in trimming, accessories and jewelry. The taboo of black for a wedding is psychological. Because it is sombre, it is often associated with mourning. A wedding is such a happy event that relatives and guests like to wear something other than black. Yes, black is always fashionable, but one should consider the occasion for which a color is worn.

Blankets Given To Solarium

Last week 25 members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Fraternal Order of Eagles, made their annual visit to Queen Alexandra Solarium. Their project for the year was the collection of old woolen goods which were made into 20 green blankets for the children's beds. Mrs. M. Carver, president of the auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. V. Coffey, chairman, made the presentation of the blankets to Mrs. L. Holdstock, matron of the Solarium. The group was then conducted on a tour of the premises after which afternoon tea was served by the Solarium staff.

You Can Solve Bustline Problems—Here's How

Today I am going to throw will lift the breasts and make you a curve you will like. If they look larger. The following exercises are to increase this measurement. 1. Bend the elbows and place the palms of the hands together in a prayer-like position. Press the palms toward one another hard and hold while you count to six slowly. Release pressure. Continue. The arms should be about bust level.

2. Lie on the floor with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, extending away from you. Lift the hips and hold while you count to six slowly. Release pressure. Continue. The hips should be about bust level.

However, the natural bustline can be preserved and improved. Many elements enter into this therapy. Good nutrition and exercise just naturally give more tone to the entire body. Then there are special exercises. The bust has no muscles in it but the chest muscles lie just underneath. If you increase these with exercise your bust measurement will also increase.

Swimming is a wonderful exercise for bust building, especially the crawl stroke. Indulge in that a lot this summer if you long for a larger bust.

Posture can have a great effect on the appearance of your silhouette. If you slump and allow your bust to rest on your ribs, naturally it will be less prominent. On the other hand if you hold yourself correctly, your straightened spine

BABY GIRL CHRISTENED SUNDAY

Dawnine Eleanor-Jean was named given the three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Boel, 3106 Balfour Avenue, in a christening ceremony in First United Church on Sunday. Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewin Moillet, the baby's aunt and uncle. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Chris Boel and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Anderson, all of Victoria. Following the ceremony a tea was held at the home of the parents. The baby, who wore an heirloom christening gown in her father's family, is pictured with her mother; her godmother, at right, and her two-year-old brother, Gary John.

Work Point Barracks Scene of Garden Party

Summer sunshine, muted by a faint mist of clouds; roses in bloom in flower borders edging the green lawn; a wide border of perky-faced pansies; the vivid colors of exotic begonias, all merged to create an exciting setting for the annual garrison garden party held Saturday afternoon in the garden in front of the officers' mess at Work Point. Receiving guests were the officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. J. C. Cave and Mrs. Cave and Major W. W. Turner, officer commanding No. 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, and Mrs. Turner. Mrs. Cave wore for the occasion a dress of spring green brocade silk with stone martin-furs and small cloche hat in beige tones. An eggshell white sheath was the choice of Mrs. Turner complemented with a black ribbed silk duster coat and black picture hat. Mrs. H. C. Pullen wore a blue and white floral print with pink cape and picture hat of clear rose red. Mrs. P. D. Budge was in a navy blue ensemble with small blue and white hat. Mrs. N. Cave, daughter-in-law of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Cave, was attractive in a beige linen sheath with a delicate over-all pattern in gold thread. She wore a beige linen duster coat and shell pink straw hat. A brown and cream cotton chiffon with a graceful full skirt was worn by Mrs. E. W. Thomas with a cream straw mushroom-brimmed hat banded in a deeper cream chiffon. A larkspur blue linen duster coat over a floral dress in the same tones was striking on dark-haired Mrs. D. L. Macnight. With this she wore a white feather bandeau hat. Mrs. F. E. Hawkins was outstanding in a black and white ensemble. Mrs. H. Hickman was wearing a hyacinth blue off-shoulder garden party dress, accented with deep pink flecks in the design. Her tiny hat was wreathed with complementing blue flowers and she carried a pink cape. Mrs. R. J. Hitchman, who came from Vancouver for the garden party was striking in a golden green faille ensemble of sheath dress and full skirted coat. A small white hat and white accessories completed her ensemble. Mrs. Fred Norris wore a classic grey suit with grey accessories. A brown linen bolero

Refreshment tables, covered with gleaming white cloths and centred with bowls of early summer flowers, were placed under the huge shade trees on the edge of the lawn. Band music was played throughout the afternoon. Britannia Lodge, No. 216, LOBA, Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. Orange Hall, 725 Courtney St. Showing of color slides after meeting.

Louanne Traunweiser Lovely Bride At Ceremony in St. Mary's Church

Flowers and gowns in pale lemon yellow and pure white created a lovely early-summer setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Louanne Traunweiser to FO Alan Douglas Sherwin, RCAF, which was solemnized at 4 p.m. in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, by Rev. H. J. Jones. To the strains of organ music played by Richard Proulx, the golden-haired bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Albert Traunweiser, 2225 Lansdowne Road, entered the church on the arm of her father to exchange vows with the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Sherwin of Yorkton, Sask. Tall white tapers shed a soft glow over baskets of white lilies and stocks standing at the front of the church, while clusters of yellow marguerites marked the pews. The exquisite bridal gown was fashioned with molded lace yoke outlined with scallops at the neckline, and the scallops were repeated on the below-elbow sleeves. The skirt of fine white organza billowed out to floor-length, forming a slight train at the back, and was appliqued with lace medallions. A crown of seed pearls held in place the full-length veil of misty net, and a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, was the bride's only jewelry. She carried white roses and stephanotis. Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Judy Traunweiser, and bridesmaid was Miss Audrey Hogg of Victoria. They wore identical gowns of palest lemon yellow organza with cuffed yokes draped gracefully over the scooped necklines, draped bodices, and bouffant waltz-length skirts. Long white gloves and lemon satin shoes were their accessories, and they had bandeaux of yellow marguerites in their hair. Bouquets of the same blooms mingled with swainsons completed their outfits. The groom had FO Jack Rymor, RCAF, Penhold, Alta., as best man, and ushers were John Whiteley, Port Arthur, Ont., and Steve Oaks, Vancouver.

The Union Club was scene of the reception, at which the newlyweds cut an all-white wedding cake. The toast to the bride was proposed by J. C. Scott-Harston. The bride's mother chose a sheath gown of draped pale blue silk jersey with picture hat of petals shading from pale beige to blue-grey. Her corsage was Johanna Hill roses. The groom's mother wore a white metallic sheath dress with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Following a honeymoon trip up Island, FO and Mrs. Sherwin will sail in mid-June aboard the Ivernia for Germany, where FO Sherwin has been posted to Zweibrücken with the Air Force. The bride traveled in a pale grey imported suit by Robell of Sweden with chalk white Panama straw hat trimmed with grosgrain and grey kid accessories. Gardenias formed her corsage.

Rides tiny capsule to world balloon height mark.

U.S. Test Pilot Goes Up 18 Miles

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A daring U.S. Air Force test pilot, sealed in a metal capsule attached to a huge plastic balloon, rode to a record-breaking 96,000 feet—18 miles—Sunday in a flight he said was "inspiring... the proudest moment of my life."

Capt. J. W. Kittinger, 28, better known by the name of "Jug" because of his previous manned-balloon altitude mark of 76,000 feet, set over Rapid City, S.D., by two U.S. Navy commanders last November. He described the trip, from takeoff at 6:23 a.m. at Fleming Field here to the landing near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles south at 12:57 p.m., as "completely successful."

The flight was a forerunner to another ascent set for some time this summer. A manned balloon is scheduled to be sent to an altitude of more than 100,000 feet for 24 hours.

$25,000 AIM OF SOLARIUM DRIVE TONIGHT

Forty-two sick youngsters will be better tonight for Greater Victoria's donations to the Queen Alexandra Solarium's annual "Shower Your Dimes" campaign. Goal is $25,000 to maintain the Solarium completely for two months or more. Canvassers will collect in Greater Victoria, Langford, Strawberry Vale, Brentwood and Ten-Mile Point.

The U.S. Air Force has indicated some of the findings may prove valuable in rocket and possible manned satellite flights of the future.

Kittinger spent about 12 hours in the cramped capsule. "I've spent six days in that capsule and it feels just like home. Actually, the capsule was more comfortable than I am right now."

He said he was not nervous during the flight and that the ascent was made in 78 minutes. He remained at 96,000 feet, the balloon's maximum, for an hour and 50 minutes before being summoned down.

Kittinger said the temperature remained at a comfortable 55 degrees inside although it was 70 below outside.

Court Rules Du Pont Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled 4 to 2 today that the Du Pont Company violates anti-trust laws by controlling General Motors Corporation through 23-percent stock ownership. The action came eight years after the government first filed its anti-trust complaint against Du Pont in Chicago.

U.K. REJECTS KHRUSHCHEV'S PULLBACK PLAN

(See also Page 3)

LONDON (UP)—Britain today rejected Soviet Communist chief Nikita Khrushchev's televised offer to withdraw Soviet troops from Eastern Europe if Britain and America pull back from Western Europe.

Foreign office officials dismissed the Khrushchev offer as one more repetition of a Soviet manoeuvre launched as long ago as 1954.

Wismer's IWA Plan Said Illegal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A proposed five-month truce in contract negotiations between 30,000 west coast woodworkers and employers was branded as "illegal" today by Robert Smeal, Victoria, the union's conciliation board nominee.

Members of International Woodworkers of America are meeting here today to decide the union's stand on the majority report of the three-man conciliation board, which proposed the truce.

The truce was recommended Saturday in a report handed down by conciliation board chairman Gordon Wismer and company nominee George Robson.

Mr. Smeal refused to file his minority report on behalf of the IWA. He wired Labor Minister Lyle Wicks to order the board to reconvene and bring in a "proper" report.

He charges that board chairman Wismer, a former B.C. attorney-general, prevented an amicable settlement being reached.

Mr. Wismer said the proposal to call a truce "should find acceptance on both sides."

The IWA's demand for a 20 per cent wage boost for more than 30,000 coast woodworkers, a union shop and other fringe benefits, was refused by Forest Industrial Relations, representing 157 coast operators.

Mr. Wismer had privately met with both parties but reported he had failed.

Mr. Smeal is B.C. representative for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and vice-president of the B.C. Federation of Labor. He protests that the majority report is illegal because only the minister can sanction the extension called for by the report.

He said the proposed device was a legal device to "trap" the IWA to continue its agreement for an indefinite period. The present contract expires June 14.

Yank Aces Fined $1,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Journal American says today it has learned the six New York Yankees involved in a May 16 Copacabana night club brawl have been fined $1,000 each.

The story says those fined were Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford and Johnny Kuck. A Yankee spokesman refused to confirm or deny the story.

Three Victorians Hold Key to 'Irish' Fortune

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Three Victorians could win Irish Sweepstakes fortunes on England's Epsom Derby Wednesday.

Two are teen-agers:

Miss Flo Peacock, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peacock, 3965 Rainbow, and Leslie

Lowres, 19, West Saanich Road, Keating.

Miss Peacock and Mr. Lowres share ticket NHV 26218 under the nom-de-plume "Lucky Us." Their horse is Master Effort.

The third lucky Victorian is Mrs. Kathleen Jones of 1762 Carrick. (See interview, page 13.)

Mrs. Bones has ticket NHV 18489 on Mystic Prince. Odds on Mystic Prince reported from Epsom today are 100 to 1. Odds on Master Effort are not known. The favorite is Crepello at 9 to 4.

Holders of Irish tickets on the winning horse would get $140,000; second place finish would be worth $56,000, and third place $28,000.

IN SAME OFFICE

Miss Peacock works in the same office as Mrs. Bones' daughter Helen. They are both assistants to George Jones, chairman of the B.C. Purchasing Commission.

"I'm so breathless I hardly know what to say," Miss Peacock told The Times. "I've been at work less than two years and the prospect of winning all that money for doing nothing is a little frightening."

"I don't know what I shall do with it. I haven't had time to get used to the idea."

It required an intensive search of the Legislative Buildings by a Times reporter to discover the holders of the "Lucky Us" ticket.

Mr. Lowres is an employee of the B.C. Power Commission. He has been at work only 18 months.

He and Miss Peacock share their ticket. They held separate tickets in the Irish sweep last year.

"I'm not getting excited yet," Mr. Lowres said. "Anything can happen in horse racing. We might only get a non-starters' prize."

Holders of non-starters receive anything from $56 to $280. "It's pretty good news, just the same," Mr. Lowres added. "And you never know your luck."

GOV'T HOUSE DESIGN

Don't Be Victorian City Architect Says

A leading Victoria architect today said the design for the new Government House should be "modern reflecting the spirit of our times and not a copy of the empty forms of the past."

John di Castri, widely known across Canada for his new architectural ideas, stepped into the controversy over the design for the new building which was destroyed by fire in April.

He is the first professional architect to express his views publicly.

A survey of public opinion conducted by The Times Saturday showed that many people believe the building should conform in style to Victoria-Edwardian precedents.

Mr. di Castri said there should be no question of the style of the new building.

"To say that it should have an atmosphere of dignity is to state one of the basic truths, but to attempt to classify that dignity as 'of the English variety' is to verify our provincialism," he said.

Mr. di Castri said many people seem confused as to what a modern building should be. They forget, he said, that modern architecture is a method of thought similar to democracy, not a series of clichés.

SPEAK FOR PROVINCE

"This new Government House should speak for the city and province," he said. "It should be a clear statement of the integrity of the designer as well as of the society in which we live."

"It must, of course, be dignified and gracious, but not through sham effects achieved by thoughtless copying of the empty forms of the past," he added.

The building of Government House, he said, is a golden opportunity for Victoria to build something worthwhile.

Discussions, he added, should not be disturbed with the meaningless words of modernistic, traditional, home engineering and old-time styling.

"It is something that concerns us all vitally and those who have opinions of merit should speak out clearly," he said.

He noted that many people seemed to be still laboring under the misguided opinion that if a building is to be modern it cannot be beautiful, but must necessarily be cold, undignified, repulsive.

"This kind of thinking confirms the all-too-evident signs of our cultural, provinciality," he said. "We accept mediocrity just to be safe."

PATHETIC

Mr. di Castri asked Victorians to name one new building which they can point out with pride.

He said the pathetic thing about Victoria is that its architecture is a design of "compromise."

Sentimentality, he said, should not be allowed to cloud the assessment of a new design.

"Either we are building something that our city can be proud of, or else, as a famous architect once said 'we will have another of the kind of buildings we deserve'," he said.

Mr. di Castri said many people seem confused as to what a modern building should be. They forget, he said, that modern architecture is a method of thought similar to democracy, not a series of clichés.

THE BALD BOY—CHAPTER ONE

Growing Forehead Latest Worry

First of 18 hilarious chapters on how to add glamour and dignity to baldness by famed writer Elmer Wheeler appears in The Times today. The series, a condensed version of Wheeler's "The Bald Boy" book, will appear daily. Wheeler first won fame for his publication "Fat Boy's Book."

By ELMER WHEELER

As the original fat boy, I lost 40 pounds in 80 days. I got 2,500,000 letters from the calorie clan when I told the world how I did it. Then a new worry confronted me.

My forehead began to grow.

I had no more learned the hard way to keep the fat of the land from living on my bay window and under my chins, when a more serious problem hit me.

My forehead began to expand as fast as my bay window was receding. As rapidly as my tummy went back, so did my hair line.

If something weren't done in a hurry Old Fat Boy would soon be New Bald Boy.

So once more Elmer set out to find out what to do about a situation that has caused centuries of embarrassment and trouble, and has provoked more inferior complexes than pigeons on man.

I had whipped weight with facts, knowledge and calories, hadn't I? Why couldn't this same formula of fighting a difficulty with knowledge work for Old Baldy?

It was getting darned embarrassing to comb my hair and see from 100 to what looked like 1,000 of Elmer's lovely boyhood locks showing up in the bitter teeth of the merciless comb.

Just as the scales became my symbol of mockery as "old fatso," my comb was fast becoming a more horrible symbol. The symbol of baldness.

Future Health Of Human Race Endangered

(From UP and AP Dispatches)
PASADENA, Calif.—Two thousand United States scientists, including Nobel-prize winning chemist Dr. Linus Pauling, appealed today for a world agreement to stop testing of nuclear bombs.

The scientists warned in a statement prepared by Dr. Pauling that each nuclear bomb test spreads an added burden of radioactive elements over the world.

"Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world and causes damage to the pool of human germ plasma such as to lead to an increase in the number of seriously defective children that will be born in future generations," the appeal said.

Dr. Pauling and his fellow scientists called for an international agreement to stop testing nuclear bombs now while only three nations of the world hold the secret to unleashing the awesome power of the hydrogen bomb.

"If testing continues," the statement warned, "and the possession of these weapons spreads to additional governments, the danger of outbreak of a cataclysmic nuclear war through the reckless action of some irresponsible national leader will be greatly increased."

They said that an agreement to stop testing nuclear bombs could serve as the first step toward a general disarmament and the ultimate effective abolition of nuclear weapons.

The appeal was signed by three Nobel laureates—Dr. Pauling, Dr. H. J. Muller and Dr. Joseph Erlanger—and by about 40 members of the National Academy of Sciences.

RUSS URGE 'FIRST STEP' H-BOMB BAN

LONDON (AP)—Russia today again proposed an immediate agreement to halt nuclear weapon tests as a "first step" toward a world disarmament accord.

Russia's Valerian Zorin put forth the proposal at the resumption of talks at the UN sub-committee on disarmament.

In a U.S.-wide television program Sunday, Dr. Pauling, chairman of Chemistry and Engineering at the California Institute of Technology, warned that the coming 20 generations may see the birth of four million defective babies unless the testing of nuclear weapons is stopped.

Meanwhile in Washington the doctor who directed treatment of Pacific islanders accidentally showered with H-bomb fallout said nuclear war would have "unthinkable" results on "all living things."

Dr. Eugene P. Cronkite said in testimony prepared for a U.S. Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy subcommittee studying fallout dangers that multiple H-bomb explosions in such a war "would produce radiation hazards for all living things and for generations to come."

U.K. H-Bomb Hotter Than '2,000 Suns'

CHRISTMAS ISLAND (AP)—Britain's second H-bomb blast generated heat nearly 2,000 times that of the sun's surface and set an island ablaze.

William Cooke, chief scientist for the British nuclear tests in the Pacific said Friday's explosion was a "complete success in every way."

The heat generated, Cook told reporters Sunday, was rated at 10,000,000 degrees centigrade (16,666,666 degrees Fahrenheit).

The average heat of the sun's surface is figured at 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The bomb, reported to be equal to 5,000,000 tons of TNT, was dropped by a Valiant jet bomber and exploded about two miles high, near the small Pacific atoll of Malden, 400 miles south of Christmas Island.

The British bomb is believed to be about half the size of the H-bomb the United States tested at Bikini last year.

Cook said the blast set timber afire over Malden's five-mile length. Four hours later fires still raged, he added.

"Even pieces of wood washed up on the shore seemed to be blazing," Cook said.

The explosion, recorded by scientific instruments placed on Malden, caused no radiation contamination on the island, he said. This finding led to speculation the British may have perfected a "clean" bomb that could be used for land or sea warfare.

British nuclear scientists taking part in the operation said such a bomb could be used as a field weapon. It would provide a high degree of safety for non-enemy troops moving into the blast area once direct fallout had cleared—probably within a few days.

They stressed, however, that for such use the bomb would have to be touched off at least two miles high. At lower levels, fallout would imperil troops on both sides.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

"Thou hast not left us, our Father, without hope in this world. We are saved by hope. Thou hast given us the assurance that death is not the end of all things for us. In Jesus Christ we have the fulfillment of that promise: 'Now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when He shall appear, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is.' Amen."

I don't mind so much about the preliminary bombs, just so they never explode the last one.

Wouldn't object to a modernistic Gov't House, long's it wuz surrounded by modernistic trees an' facin' a modernistic strait an' modernistic Olympics.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Campney Backs Pensions Deal

Social Credit could give old age pensioners in B.C. $92 a month by matching the present federal pension payment, Defence Minister Ralph Campney said in Courtenay Saturday night.

"If the Socreds want $100-a-month pensions, let them match the $17,000,000 we are spending in B.C.," Mr. Campney told an audience of 55.

Mr. Campney speaks tonight at Colwood Community Hall in support of Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal candidate Alistair Fraser.

He said at Courtenay the federal family allowance payments of $28 a month for a family of four make Premier Bennett's $28 a year tax rebate for home owners look sick.

This year will be the second highest in house construction, at the worst the third biggest, Mr. Campney said. After the record of 139,000 new houses in 1956, this year had been slow to start but the figure would reach 100,000.

"But with all those atomic and hydrogen bombs our prosperity could end in an ash heap. We must have national security."

"I don't see any likelihood of any substantial reduction in our commitments to NATO," he said. The national defence budget nevertheless had been reduced by $50,000,000 this year."

A. De B. McPhillips, Conservative candidate in Victoria, claimed Saturday night that Canada "blindly follows the U.S." in foreign policy.

"Canada has no position in foreign affairs except that of the United States," Mr. McPhillips told a meeting at Willows School.

The candidate said New York bankers are keeping the Canadian dollar at a premium because of their investments in this country.

Mr. McPhillips also hit out at Social Credit and said Premier Bennett should stay in his office tending to the province's business, instead of "strutting around the nation like a barnyard rooster."

Premier Bennett opens his prairie campaign tour tonight with a meeting at Saskatoon.

Mr. Bennett, who will be away from B.C. until election day, will be in Winnipeg Wednesday, and Regina Friday.

Election 'Prediction' Denied by Liberals

OTTAWA (CP)—General Secretary H. Erskine Kidd of the National Liberal Federation Sunday night said the federation has issued no confidential predictions of election results.

He was commenting on a Toronto Sunday Telegram story that a confidential memorandum for sole use of party officials predicted return of the St. Laurent government with a reduced majority.

"No memorandum was issued by this office," Mr. Kidd said. "We are not in the habit of making predictions."

The premier spoke at Kamloops Saturday night, and in a 2½-hour address said Social Credit would not enter a coalition with any party.

But if Social Credit didn't agree with the government, it would "combine" to defeat it.

Loss of 20 Seats in Ontario Won't Beat Liberals, Experts Say

By VICTOR MACKIE

OTTAWA Correspondent

TORONTO — Liberals are going to lose seats in Ontario, but not enough to loosen their grip on the government.

That's the consensus among practising politicians in this central province, a key to the outcome of the general election June 10.

A tour of ridings in Ontario and interviews with scores of politicians including candidates and their workers as well as personalities prominent on the political scene leads this correspondent to the conclusion: The Liberals are going to drop seats in Ontario but not heavily enough to lose power in Canada.

The Liberals could drop from 15 to, at the most, 20 seats in Ontario. That is the province that has shaped up to be the real battle ground between the forces of the two old-line parties.

Quebec by all accounts is holding solid on its Liberal line. The Liberals should keep the 68 seats they had in Quebec and perhaps take one or two more.

The Maritimes should return 20 Liberals, the prairie provinces from 17 to 18 Liberals, British Columbia five, and two Liberals in the northern constituencies in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

how unnecessary this aid to fine grooming would soon become; for it wouldn't be long before I, with thousands of others, would be combing my hair with the palms of my hands.

The idea drove me to doing something about it before it was too late, and I set out to learn all about receding brows and how to retard them.

I began to take sly looks at the hair lines of my friends. If they had hair lines down to their eyebrows, like poodle dogs, I envied them and thought up dire and snide thoughts on "low-brows."

If their hair was "intellectual looking," that is, way back in true Shakespeare style, I smiled in the pleased satisfaction the guy with no hair gets when he meets a compatriot.

I found myself sneaking into rest rooms and looking at my own hair line. Where it was possible to see me in double mirrors, I kept hourly track of the back of the head.

When no one was home, I'd go into the den and look at some of my college rah-rah pictures, showing Elmer's hair blowing in the wind as he sat proudly at the wheel of a Stutz Bearcat.

I BEGAN to catch myself reading "hair ads." I pretended I was reading something else on the page, but those "here today, and gone tomorrow" ads found a good reader in Elmer. Hair tonic ads began to find me an aficionado. I began (nonchalantly, of course) to ask my barber about the various claims of the tonics.

Indeed, "old falso" had a new problem, where to start in his campaign to hold the hair line.

I even wrote wig manufacturers for their literature to be sent "in plain, unmarked envelopes," just in case.

Imagine Elmer, captain in the Marine Corps; YMCA director, Eagle Scout, wearing a dome dolly. The idea, nearly killed me.

It gave me nightmares. I'd find myself counting tonic bottles instead of sheep to put me to sleep.

I became so self-conscious of my receding brow that I kept my hat on at all times, in true Bing Crosby style.

PERHAPS WHAT really gave me the big burn, though, was my shaggy-haired mongrel, a combination of sheep dog, cocker, and lion, I guess. Anyhow, he sure had a head of hair.

He had so much hair he could hardly see me. He had to peek through a mass of hair. While I dreamed of having the hair of a Steinmetz, the dog dreamed of living the life of the short-haired Chihuahua down the street.

Indeed, we both had our problems and I must start tomorrow to solve mine. After all, any good vet could solve the dog's problem.

Mine needed research, science, medical and perhaps, who knows some psychic treatment.

A mighty new job lay before Elmer; but the thoughts of that "dome dolly" drove me on.

I'd have the last laugh at that comb—for I was mad.

The Wonder

I HAD A DREAM, and, in my dream, I was riding in a magic plane that not only took me back in time, but bore me high above an enormous land that stretched from sea to sea.

Because of the plane's magical power over time, I was able to look down upon this unknown country as it used to be when it was still a colony of a European power.

"Can you let me see that colony growing into a nation?" I asked the pilot.

"Sure thing," he said. "We'll just set the time controls."

"For 1791," I suggested. "The Constitutional Act?" he said.

"Yes. When elected assemblies were granted in the two newly-formed divisions of the colony."

"They didn't have complete control over the appointed governor and his chosen council," warned the pilot.

"But they were the thin edge of the wedge of self-government," I retorted, quoting some professor or other.

So we set the time controls for 1791, and then let the plane zoom over the succeeding years.

We saw the people of the colony rebelling in 1837 because they wanted more self-government than the Constitutional Act had given them.

We saw the Mother Country alarmed by this rebellion, and Lord Durham suggesting responsible government as a remedy.

We saw the crucial year of 1849 when, thanks to Lord Elgin, the colony gained responsible Cabinet government in domestic affairs.

From my seat beside the pilot, I saw how, in 1859, the colony won the right to decide its fiscal policy towards other countries (Galt's Canada Customs Act). He imposed duties on certain British goods, and, when the British Colonial Secretary objected, Canada said that for Britain to disallow the act would be a direct denial of Canada's right to self-government.)

With pride and interest, I saw Canada become a Dominion on July 1, 1867.

I saw Canada send a contingent of her own to the South African War.

I saw her set up a Department of External Affairs in 1909.

I saw her start her own navy in 1910.

I saw the part she played in the First World War with contributions of men, money and munitions.

I heard a Canadian minister called Borden make an important resolution in 1917. He said the future constitutional arrangements of the Empire "must be based on a complete recognition of the Dominions as autonomous nations of an Imperial commonwealth—with a voice in foreign policy and foreign relations."

I saw Canada sign the Treaty of Versailles as an independent nation, and I saw that the treaty did not become operative so far as Canada was concerned until it had been ratified by the Dominion Parliament.

I saw Canada receive separate representation in the Assembly of the League of Nations.

Peering down from the plane as we approached the 1920's, I saw the Chanak Incident of 1922, and the Halibut Treaty of 1923.

Very clearly indeed, I saw the Imperial Conference of 1926 accepting the principles which became law by the Statute of Westminster in 1931.

Growing tired and rather dazed, I saw the events of 1939-1945.

I saw Canada's contributions to the Second World War.

I saw the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, the Ogdensburg Agreement, the Dumbarton Oaks Conference, the United Nations Conference at San Francisco in 1945, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization of 1949, the Colombo Plan of 1950, the Suez Crisis of 1956.

I saw, though dimly, the flow and force of Canadian history, its effect upon Imperial history, and consequently its effect upon world history.

"Could we pop back for another look at a landing in 1957?" I asked the pilot, as we prepared for a landing in 1957.

"The Statute of Westminster?" he asked.

"Yes," I said. "You know the bit about autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

"A magnificent gesture of renunciation," the pilot said quietly. "With the Imperial Parliament accepting a position of equality with the Parliaments of other members of the British Commonwealth."

"Self-governing communities within an Imperial framework," I said. "Literally, it's a contradiction in terms. And yet it works. That's the wonder of it. The wonder and the glory."

As some of the early flowering perennials go out of flower, it is a good thing if we know which will produce desirable plants from seed.

Helianthus niger (Christmas rose) and H. Orientalis (Lenten rose) may each have one seed pod retained.

Allow the pod to ripen, and when it commences opening, cut it carefully from the plant and finish the ripening indoors on a sunny window sill for a few days.

When ripe and dry, sow the seed at once in a box of screened soil and peat moss. If you have suitable conditions, you may wish to sow it around the parent plant.

With either method, the seedlings should be moved to give them more growing space when they are large enough to handle. Primula polyanthus, the beauty of the late April garden, is now ripening seed. Only the most desirable plants should be allowed to set a single head of blossom. All others must be removed to conserve energy.

The lovely Tibetan blue poppy (Meconopsis Baileyi) is only just coming into flower with us, but we shall allow a couple of the earliest flowers to remain and to set seed. This may be sured Sunday, more than 50 hours after the barge broke away from two tugs and crashed into the bridge which had been swung open to let it proceed downstream. Tugs freed the barge after slack tide late Saturday. An earlier attempt failed when the river current proved too strong.

NEW WEST MINSTER, B.C. (CP)—It took 17 towboats, including the famous deepsea tug Sudbury, to free a 60-foot barge jammed Friday night into the Canadian National Railway bridge across the Fraser River here. Regular train traffic was re-

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Castle...Or White Elephant?

LONDON—A favorite pastime with women is playing the game of "If I had the money that's the house I'd like to buy." My wife does this with at least three houses in London, one in Cornwall and another in Sussex. For the time being, however, it remains a dream.

But those women who have the means can indulge these whims—and often as not a house bought on the basis of seeing it and falling in love with it turns out to be a white elephant, to be lived in for a while and then disposed of, or to stand empty and be visited only occasionally.

That is the sort of thing that has happened with the Queen Mother and the Castle of Mey, although she saw it and bought it in unhappy circumstances.

It was just after the death of her husband and at that time she felt she would withdraw from public life and set up residence there, with the new Queen and her family using it as a place for holidays.

That was exactly five years ago and things have not worked out that way.

The Castle of Mey stands on the sea at the very top of Scotland, just a couple of miles from John O'Groats. More than 800 miles from London, it is the furthest you can get from Buckingham Palace and still stay on the island.

With a beach at the front door, the Queen Mother felt it would be an ideal place for the Royal youngsters to have holidays, especially if Prince Charles is as castle-conscious as most kids in this country are.

What more wonderful for a boy than to have as his family's summer cottage a real castle?

It is 400 years old and far more genuine, with its dungeons and traditional ghost, than Arundel Castle, about which I wrote the other day.

What the Queen Mother paid for the castle wasn't made public but it was known locally to be a snip at a few hundred pounds, even if it was derelict.

A gale had blown part of the roof off and its owner was considering taking the whole roof off and letting it become a ruin, which would have had the twin result of making it more valuable as a tourist attraction and avoiding constant bills for upkeep.

Since buying it, the Queen Mother has poured $55,000 into renovation, including a couple of attempts to redecorate a room to suit Princess Margaret.

The castle is now eminently habitable, but nobody's doing any living in it, not even the housekeeper, who has her own specially-built cottage nearby. The Queen Mother has stayed there only twice in five years of ownership. Princess Margaret has visited it twice but never slept there and Prince Charles and Princess Anne have had one visit when the Royal yacht called in a couple of years ago.

The Queen and Princess Margaret are known not to be enthusiastic about the Castle of Mey. Margaret's first reaction was, "Why couldn't mummy buy a castle in Bond Street instead of the back of beyond?"

The idea of the castle being a change from the Royal holiday place at Balmoral (150 miles south, just inland from Aberdeen), seems to have been abandoned—for far from living at Mey the Queen Mother is now putting money into improvements to her house at Balmoral.

SYNOPSIS—An area of high pressure over the northern Gulf of Alaska is extending gradually to Vancouver Island. This will keep sunny weather along the entire coast today and Tuesday although banks of fog will remain over the open Pacific. Repeated thunderstorms which have rolled over the interior the past two days have pushed into the East Kootenays and the Prince George region today. Kamloops and the Okanagan Valley will have a return to sunny weather as the drier air from the coast moves inland.

Bilingualism Need Stressed by PM

(By The Canadian Press) Prime Minister St. Laurent said at St. Damien, Que., Sunday the time is coming when high-placed members of the federal government will have to speak both French and English.

He told an election rally he had expressed that view in the past and had scandalized his audience.

But his prediction is coming true even now, he said. One saw many English-speaking officials practicing French phrases. They were very proud when they had mastered them.

French and English are Canada's official languages and always will be, the prime minister aid. Bilingualism was one way to develop national unity.

Mr. St. Laurent is scheduled to finish his Quebec tour with a speech in Montreal tonight. He then leaves for a campaign trip to Ontario.

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell fired a tentative television shot from Regina at Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker. He said "understanding" between the Progressive Conservative leader and Ontario Premier Frost might mean a larger share of federal taxes for the central province at the cost of "less fortunate" provinces.

Mr. Diefenbaker meanwhile told a Minto, N.B., audience "power-mad" members of the Liberal federal government are forcing provinces and municipalities into the position of beggars. But if a Conservative government were elected, he would call a federal-provincial-municipal conference intended to relieve the "frightful load" he said the non-central governments now are carrying.

At Almer, Ont., Social Credit chief Solon Low, discussed the British-French landing in Egypt and claimed Britain and France had a "perfect right" to go into Suez and "Canada should have supported them until they completed their mission."

PORT ALBERNI CADETS WIN NADEN CONTESTS

More than 250 Vancouver Island Sea Cadets took part in the annual inter-corps sports competitions Saturday at HMCS Naden which saw the Port Alberni corps edge out four other cadet groups.

Port Alberni cadets won the aggregate plaque with 16 points; Malmguy corps of Duncan got 13 points; Amphion of Nanaimo won 12; Victoria cadets won 11 and de Wolf cadets of Campbell River were awarded seven points.

Main events included a whaler race, rifle team contest and track and field events.

The cadets attended church here Sunday at St. Andrew's Cathedral and Metropolitan United Church.

Brian Sneade, Judy Griffiths S. J. Willis Senior Sport Champs

Brian Sneade racked up 13 points to win the senior boys' championship in sports day events at S. J. Willis Junior High School Friday.

Senior girls' champion was Judy Griffiths, 15 points. Intermediate honors went to Gary Zilkie and Charlie Rees, tied with eight points and Joyce Murrant, 15 points.

In the junior division, Ranjit Dillon and Alvin Lowe tied with 13 points, and Barbara Pudsey stepped out with another 13.

An aggregate of 168 points won first place in boys' and girls' events for House 3. Second was House 1 with an aggregate of 134 and third, House 2, 85 points.

5,000 See Shrine End Funfest With Colorful Pageant in Arena

Visiting Shriners wrapped up a two-day spring ceremonial Saturday night with a peppy pageant in Memorial Arena.

Almost 5,000 Victorians attended the show, sitting through temperatures that reached 80 degrees in the higher seats.

Unofficial guest of honor was Roberta Ratcliffe, 11, of Mount Newton Crossroad, Saanichton. Roberta was crippled with cerebral palsy at the age of two and has been receiving treatment at the Shriners' Hospital in Portland. During the evening she presented a bouquet to Miss

The vivid show was sparked by comedian-pianist Jimmy Fisher of Vancouver. The only Shriner without the familiar fez, he wore a baggy suit and pork-pie hat, and announced his first number as "Get Out of the Wheat Field Mother — You're Going Against the Grain."

Their fezes glittering under bright lights, Vancouver's Gizeh Temple Chanters added to the variety show flavor with their harmony. They dedicated their

Kasper Conviction Of Rioting Upheld

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Saturday upheld the contempt of court conviction of race segregationist John Kasper on grounds the freedom of speech amendment "does not confer the right to persuade others to violate the law."

Kasper, 27, white citizens council organizer and former New York bookseller, was sentenced to one year in prison in connection with inflaming a three-day riot at Clinton last August.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special meeting of the Vancouver and New Westminster District Council of the Civil Service Federation of Canada has asked Prime Minister St. Laurent to announce salary increases before the June 10 federal election.

The request was contained in a resolution passed unanimously Sunday night by 300 delegates. Members also urged the Civil Service Federation of Canada to continue efforts for a negotiation procedure similar to the Whitley Council in Great Britain. W. Hewitt-White, federation national vice-president, said such a procedure would take the politics out of the situation.

Federal Servants Urge PM Act on Salary Hike

TORONTO (CP)—More than 2,000 members of the Civil Servants' Federation Sunday supported a motion asking Prime Minister St. Laurent for an immediate decision on their request for a national salary increase.

The government announced salary increases for professional civil servants May 9.

Stressing that the meeting was not a political rally, F. W. Whitehouse, president of the 70,000-member federation, urged civil servants to refrain from making political utterances that might find their way into the newspapers.

The members also endorsed the federation's move to have the question of civil servants' salaries left out of the political arena. Mr. Whitehouse said the federation resents the fact politicians have made a political issue of their salary.

"We don't like it and we are not going to stand for it," he said.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in an election campaign address at Cobourg, Ont., last month his government was postponing until after the election the matter of general salary increases for civil servants.

Commenting on an Ottawa newspaper's estimate that civil servants' wages would be increased by from 4.5 to 7 per cent, Mr. Whitehouse said, the federation would never accept it.

"We have asked for a 10 per cent interim increase and if we do not get it by July it will have to be a 12 per cent hike," he said.

SUN PROMISED TO VICTORIA BY VANCOUVER WEATHERMAN

The Victoria area is solemnly promised another honey of a sunny day, by no less an authority than Vancouver's weatherman.

Victoria's regular forecaster, Bill Mackie, is in Ottawa for head office consultations. Filling in is Frank Williams, Vancouver, who says: "Of course there'll be no precipitation while I'm here."

Continuing his co-operative mood, Mr. Williams forecasts ideal temperatures around the 70 mark today, just a light layer of cloud, and more of the same Tuesday.

JUDY BOOTS

(Barking for Monte Roberts)

My friends keep asking me what it is like to live in the same house with a kitten-size cat and when my friends ask me a question I am bound to answer for I am Judy Boots Streak the friend of all the people.

I am also the female-type doggie who lives at the Old Man's House and which the Old Man every once in a while makes me fill up this space to earn by bed and bone.

Well the first thing about living in a house with a kitten-size cat I was quite happy about the whole thing I thought the Old Man would make the kitten-size cat fill up this space thus giving me a holiday.

But did any such of a thing happen no it did not the kitten-size cat is apparently a privileged character and does not have to do anything for her bed and bone except look cute which I admit she does if you like kittenish looks.

The kitten-size cat has been named by the Old Man he has named her (she is a female-type too like me only a cat not a dog) he has named her Little Miss Muffett now I ask you how corny can you get?

Besides which this is not even a good name for her Little Miss Muffett is supposed to sit on a tuffet and stay there until something frightens her away well this kitten-size cat isn't frightened of anything and the only time she sits on her tuffet is when she is laying in wait for me ready to pounce.

When she is not sitting on her tuffet which is most of the time the kitten-size cat is flying through the air with the greatest ease or sitting on the Old Man's shoulder nibbling his ear or eating great quantities of expensive delicacies such as potato peelings.

During the daytime when the folks are away is the only time the kitten-size cat looks like Little Miss Muffett for then she curls up on her tuffet and sleeps and sleeps and sleeps.

The reason she does this is so she will be good and rested so she will have lots of energy to bounce around the house and keep everybody awake including me when everybody wants to sleep including me.

But don't misunderstand me I like the kitten-size cat fine only I hope she grows up soon and becomes real dignified as a cat should be and then we will have a peaceful time around the house and not live a cat's life.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A total of $2,010 was raised by the Gorge Road Hospital Auxiliary at a tag day in Victoria and Oak Bay Saturday.

The money will be used towards the purchase of a station wagon-ambulance.

Establishment of the proposed "good music" station, CFAX in Saanich, must await outcome of CBC studies of present program standards in this area, Saanich Broadcasting Co. president Ellison Quesale said Saturday.

He said CFAX licence application would likely come before the CBC board of governors again in August or September, and predicted if granted a licence then "we will be on the air by Christmas."

Kenneth L. Harbor, 40, Seattle, was sentenced in city court today to one day in jail for defrauding a local hotel of $19.

He had been in custody four days.

B.C. Rest Home Association, Vancouver Island branch, will meet at the home of George L. Buchanan, 2311 Wark Street, Friday, June 14, at 8 p.m.

At a weekend meeting in Nanaimo, Mrs. Amy Brislin of Victoria was re-elected president.

City Firms Fined For Tax Violation

Two city firms were each fined $25 when they pleaded guilty in city court today to failing to file 1956 income tax returns.

Firms were Admark Ltd., 710 Johnson, and Arthur Browne Ltd.

'POOR IMMIGRANT' HAS TICKET ON MYSTIC PRINCE

She'll Buy Washing Machine If Her Irish Horse Comes Home

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Victoria woman who stands to win up to $140,000 in the Irish sweepstakes next Wednesday scrubbed her way through a mountain of soiled clothes this morning.

It was Monday wash day as usual for dainty blue-eyed Mrs. Kathleen Bones, 1762 Carrick, and she didn't even have a washing machine to help her out.

"We're just poor immigrants," laughed Mrs. Bones in her lilting Northern Ireland brogue. "We've been so busy fixing our home here we haven't any money over for luxuries."

Even if Mrs. Bones doesn't win a top prize in the sweep on Tuesday's Epsom Derby Wednesday she may receive approximately $1,200 as one of 22 Canadians who have drawn horses—and a washing machine will be high on the list of new household purchases.

MAY VISIT HOME

Should she get one of the 18 first prizes of $140,000, Mrs. Bones will probably take a quick trip home to her native Ballymena which she left three years ago.

"But I'm not thinking about that yet," she said.

The draw concludes today with the prize fund set at $6,206,000. There will be 18 first prizes of $140,000 each, 18 second prizes of $56,000 and 18 third prizes of $28,000.

Holders of non-starters receive anything from $56 to $280. Mrs. Bones and her husband Robert, 49-year-old plumber who works for Flanders Installation Ltd., Crofton, bought two consecutive tickets.

The lucky one was NHV-18489 drawn on the horse Mystic Prince.

GOOD AT HOOP-LE

Mrs. Bones had never won a luck prize before—not even a raffle in a church bazaar.

"But I used to win prizes at hoop-le, throwing rings over teapots and flower vases. I was pretty good at that."

To Canadian ears Mrs. Bones sounds like a Highland Scot but, as she explains, Scottish people settled in northern Ireland centuries ago "and we get our brogue from them."

Mr. and Mrs. Bones migrated to Victoria in 1954 after their sons, Kenneth, 21, and Robert, 19, had already settled here. They have two other children—Helen, who works for the B.C. Purchasing Commission, and Sylvia, a student at Oaklands School.

Kenneth is now with the Bank of Montreal at Prince Rupert. Robert works for Underwood Typewriters on Fort Street.

"Victoria is the loveliest place in the world and we have no desire to return to Ireland to live. But if I win the sweep I may take a holiday trip back."

Other B.C. ticket holders, names or non-de-plumes, their ticket numbers and horses are: G. Gahrns, Vancouver, NDV 10637, Ballymoss; Lucky 13, Vancouver, NHS 85908, Ballymoss; Billy, Vancouver, PRS 09503, Alcastus; Barry Holly Lee, Vancouver, PRS 90964, Crepello (the favorite); Timmy, Vancouver, NHS 897188, Zel-tout; Helen Young, Vancouver, PQT 86767, Royaumont; Dog House, Burnaby, PQA 82119, London Cry; Paul Perron, Marguerite, Vancouver, NEP 74240, Messmate; Penny One, North Vancouver, PRV 44275, Prince Taj.

The Irish government takes about $658,000 in stamp taxes, while another $1,974,000 is to be distributed among the hospitals.

Scout 'Engineers' Stage Display At District Camp

Bridges were built, aerial tramways constructed, and tree houses occupied on the weekend for the benefit of the public attending a display at the new Boy Scout campsite on Kangaroo Road in Metochin.

District Scoutmaster Chris Pike was in charge of the camp, in which Scouts from Windsor Park, Metochin, Sooke, Luxton and Langford took part.

Frank Nelson, assistant district commissioner for Scouts, paid the camp a visit, and Art Chamberland, assistant commissioner for training, conducted the campfire Saturday night at which a number of visitors were present.

CAR FIRST PRIZE

Victoria Kinsmen said today there are still plenty of seats available for their sixth giant bingo tonight at Memorial Arena.

At noon today, some 5,200 tickets had been sold and another 2,500 were still available. Those not sold during the afternoon will go on sale at the door tonight.

For past bingos, tickets have been sold out by noon and the Kinsmen are hopeful of filling the arena again tonight.

Main prize is a $3,000 two-door Ford automobile. In addition there are 13 major prizes for game winners, including television sets, deep freezers, ruks, and other household goods in the $300-$500 price range.

As a special feature, there will be a draw for a "surprise" bonus prize.

In their past giant bingos the Kinsmen have raised about $25,000, of which some $20,000 is being held for a community project still under consideration.

At a weekend meeting, the club decided to pay the new 10 per cent provincial amusement tax on tonight's proceeds and then apply for a refund of a portion of the tax because it is a charitable organization.

The Kinsmen intend, however, to make representations to the government later to free it completely from the tax.

Flounders From Floating Tube

ALBERNI—Ten-year-old Andrew Bolme of North Surrey drowned in nearby Sproat Lake Sunday afternoon in four feet of water while playing off Smith's Landing on the eastern shore.

The boy couldn't swim.

His body was discovered by accident by OS Gerald Slots, 20, of HMC Naden, who was visiting his parents in Alberni.

The drowned boy had been visiting his sister, Mrs. Edward Mills, 205 Montrose here, with whom OS Slots had hitch-hiked a ride earlier to Alberni.

The boy had been playing with a young friend, both using inner tubes, off the end of the landing.

He apparently worked his way out of the inner tube. His companion noticed him floundering but thought he was only playing. He left the Bolme lad and went to shore.

OS Slots came across the body only 10 minutes later.

MEDICAL PLAN READIED FOR STRIKE ACTION

Special provisions for premium collections in the event of a strike by provincial civil servants have been set by the B.C. Government Employees Medical Services.

J. B. Paul, secretary-treasurer, said cash collections would be made from each member in place of the regular payroll deduction.

5th Traffic Fatality In District This Year

Elderly Langford resident Capt. George A. Laird, 79, 2763 Winster, became Greater Victoria's fifth traffic fatality this year when he died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital.

He suffered fatal injuries in collision with a car on Atkins Road, Langford, about 10 p.m. May 24.

Previously charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident was Robert Rory Fraser, 18, 1005 Dunford, who was remanded without plea when he appeared in Colwood RCMP court the morning after the accident.

Fraser is charged with being driver of a car which failed to remain at the scene.

APPEARS FRIDAY

No further charge has been laid, but RCMP say investigation is continuing and Fraser is due to appear on the first charge Friday of this week.

Fraser suffered multiple injuries including a fractured leg and a head injury. Investigation after the accident resulted in Fraser being taken into custody the same night. He was held until charged.

TO MEET WIFE

A well-known coast tugboat skipper, Capt. Laird was believed to have been going to meet his wife at St. Mary's Priory, Langford, when the accident took place.

The car apparently crashed into a CPR right-of-way fence nearby after the collision, and Fraser was assisted by neighbors in disentangling the car from the fence.

A few minutes later, pedestrians on Atkins found the injured man lying unconscious about five feet off the road.

Langford ambulance was summoned and Capt. Laird was admitted at St. Joseph's at 10:30 p.m.

Mayor Enlarges Centennial Body

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today he will add to the city committee on a B.C. Centennial year project in hope of hastening a recommendation.

G. Conway Parrott, chamber of commerce director, will be one of two appointees.

Mayor Scurrell said he has not decided on the second, but neither will be a member of council.

Several names are being considered, said the mayor. He added that the present committee, consisting of Ald. G. I. Edgewood, Ald. E. D. McEwen and Ald. Austin I. Curtis, "has had difficulty in getting a quorum."

DOOR STILL OPEN

City council recently decided to proceed with planning for a project for the city exclusively, but later indicated the door is still open to consideration of a joint project with Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

The four municipalities are agreed on joint celebrations and the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee, including the city aldermen listed above, are chaired by Ald. Edgewood, was to meet this afternoon.

Numerous projects have been considered so far but none adopted. Recent thinking at City Hall is that it should be one which could be completed within the amount readily available.

GALLERY PROPOSED

This would amount to about $65,000. It would be made up from a provincial Centennial grant of 60 cents per capita plus a matching amount put up by the city.

Under study unofficially at present is a scheme to adopt the long-planned addition to Victoria Art Gallery as a city project.

Business Tries Electronic Help

A B.C. businessman had an electronic secretary (telephone recorder) installed in his office.

But he didn't keep it long.

"I get no business out of it," he complained to the B.C. Telephone Co., "only rude messages from boys who ring up before I get to the office."

One of the messages was: "You are a silly old twirp."

"Otherwise we have had no complaints," an official of B.C. Telephone said today as more than 150 executives and delegates of Canada's major telephone companies assembled at the Empress for the 28th annual meeting of the Telephone Association of Canada.

Between 50 and 60 electronic secretaries have been installed in Greater Vancouver and six in Victoria.

Drug stores find the telephone recorder useful for taking prescriptions after hours.

The prescriptions are made up early in the morning and are ready when customers call.

Stockbrokers are also using the device for recording messages from speculators and some firms use it when there is an overflow of calls at the switchboard.

The recorder automatically lifts the receiver when a call is received and says: "Mr. So-and-So is out. Will you please leave a message?"

Thomas W. Eadie, president of the Trans-Canada Telephone System, says visual telephone calls, in which callers can see one another as they talk, are still in the experimental stage.

"But they could eventually become commercial," he says.

LOUDSPEAKERS

Loudspeaker phones, obviating the need for a handset, are growing in popularity. If you wish to keep the conversation private, you lift the handset and the speaker automatically switches off.

The Canadian telephone industry made a record increase of nearly 350,000 phones in 1956, bringing the total to 4,500,000 at the end of the year, Stuart R. Muirhead of Regina, president of the telephone association, told delegates today.

"This compares with 292,000 in 1956, and is the largest figure ever achieved in a single year," said Mr. Muirhead, who is deputy minister and general manager of Saskatchewan Government Telephones.

He noted that unfilled orders for service had been reduced from about 80,000 to about 45,000 during 1956.

"Long-distance business grew at a rapid rate in 1956," Mr. Muirhead continued.

He said the radar protection screen known as the Mid-Canada line had been largely completed during 1956 by the Trans-Canada Telephone System.

Scenes of Victoria in Hasty Notes and Cards

By PENNY SAVER

Not only tourists, but Victorians as well are buying up the lovely post cards that show beauty spots of our city. These cards are water color reprints in black and white and show favorite places we all know so well. Scenes at Butchart's Gardens, Beacon Hill Park, and waterfront glimpses are artistically done. They come in boxes of 10, with two cards of each scene.

Instead of jotting a note on a conventional bit of stationery, drop your friends news on these cards. If they are from Victoria, they'll enjoy the cards even more than those people who have never seen the city. The boxes are $1.50 each.

A new shipment of travellers' clothes lines has arrived just in time for your holiday planners. These lines are of hard-wearing and strong twisted rubber covered with fabric. On one end is a loop and on the other end a hook. For travelling, they are wonderful. Just loop one end of the line over a door knob or such, and hook the other end to a nearby surface. To hang nylons and such to dry, separate the strands of the twist and loop a piece of the material in it. No pins, to mark material or take up extra space. When the article is dry, a gentle pull will release it. The lines are yours for 69 cents.

May I wear black to a wedding?

Is it wholly improper for an aunt of the bride to wear black at the wedding? We've discussed this matter many times and always come up with a blank. I do not wear light colors well and prints are extremely unflattering. I have heard that black is thumbs down for the immediate family, but is it not right to wear what looks best on you? Summer black is quite stylish and if touched off with white accessories, can it be worn for this occasion?

Louise Davis answers:

It isn't wholly improper to wear black, but it is advisable if possible to avoid it. Are you sure that black is the only color you are accustomed to it that you feel self-conscious in anything else and therefore are convinced that nothing else is becoming? Perhaps you can compromise on grey. When you go shopping, take someone along who has good color sense and style judgment and see what happens. But if you feel that you would be miserable or unhappy, then wear black, but try to offset it with a contrast in trimming, accessories and jewelry. The taboo of black for a wedding is psychological. Because it is sombre, it is often associated with mourning. A wedding is such a happy event that relatives and guests like to wear something other than black. Yes, black is always fashionable, but one should consider the occasion for which a color is worn.

Blankets Given To Solarium

Last week 25 members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Fraternal Order of Eagles, made their annual visit to Queen Alexandra Solarium. Their project for the year was the collection of old woolen goods which were made into 20 green blankets for the children's beds. Mrs. M. Carver, president of the auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. V. Coffey, chairman, made the presentation of the blankets to Mrs. L. Holdstock, matron of the Solarium. The group was then conducted on a tour of the premises after which afternoon tea was served by the Solarium staff.

VON Hoping To Employ Therapist

Members of the VON Junior Auxiliary are hoping that a permanent physiotherapist will soon be added to the VON staff.

Mrs. William Graham, convener of the Children's Fair sponsored by the group Saturday afternoon, announced today "Gross proceeds of the fair were about $690 and we plan to use most of this to pay a full-time permanent physiotherapist for VON patients. We're looking for one now."

Highlights of the fair, held in Fireman's Park, St. Ann Street, were a miniature tally-ho drawn by two ponies, a fishpond, and a showing of summer fashions by the T. Eaton Co. Miss Betty Short, acting nursing director of the VON, Victoria Branch, opened the fair and also presided at a display of equipment.

Tea was served by a group of friends of the Auxiliary. The S. J. Willis School Band provided music. Members assisting included Mrs. A. C. Craig, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. G. Jones, Mrs. D. Holden, Mrs. N. Colvin, Mrs. J. Campbell, Mrs. P. O. Neal, Mrs. J. Meikle, Mrs. R. Dolman, Mrs. E. A. Popham, Mrs. R. Botting, Mrs. Olsen Cairns, Mrs. J. Cox, Mrs. T. Sorenson, Mrs. A. Storkey, Mrs. E. You Can Solve Bustline Problems—Here's How Today I am going to throw will lift the breasts and make you a curve you will like. It them look larger.

The following exercises are also helpful because they increase the size of the chest muscles:

1. Bend the elbows and place the palms of the hands together in a prayer-like position. Press the palms toward one another to six slowly. Release pressure. Continue. The arms should be about bust level.

2. Lie on the floor with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, extending

However, the natural bustline can be preserved and improved. Many elements enter into this therapy. Good nutrition and exercise just naturally give more tone to the entire body. Then there are special exercises. The bust has no muscles in it but the chest muscles lie just underneath. If you increase these with exercise your bust measurement will also increase.

Swimming is a wonderful exercise for bust building, especially the crawl stroke. Indulge in that a lot this summer if you long for a larger bust.

Posture can have a great effect on the appearance of your silhouette. If you slump and allow your bust to rest on your ribs, naturally it will be less prominent. On the other hand if you hold yourself correctly, your straightened spine

American Medical Men Fear New 'Flu Virus Headed Here

WASHINGTON (UP)—American laboratories have been alerted to watch for the possible appearance on this continent of the new influenza virus that has been sweeping the Far East, a World Health Organization official disclosed Sunday night.

Dr. Carl Dauer, executive secretary of the U.N. agency's U.S. influenza information centre, said that with travellers returning constantly from the Orient the virus could hit the West Coast at any time.

Dr. Dauer said "we don't anticipate anything very severe at this time."

The epidemic has been in progress in the Far East since February.

Dr. Dauer said 185 died in Manila. But since half the city contracted the disease, he said the ratio of deaths means the epidemic still can be considered "mild."

Scientists describe the virus as a mild Type "A" which is B.C. Signs Deal To Share Higher Pension Payments

The provincial government has signed an agreement with Ottawa to undertake its share of the increased old-age assistance payments, Health Minister Eric Martin announced today.

The $6 monthly pension increase brought about by the last federal-budget was dependent in the 65-70 age group, on provincial governments paying half.

When the budget was brought down, Mr. Martin said, B.C. would make the additional payment. An order-in-council passed Friday makes it official.

It also applies to the $6 monthly increase for blind person's allowances and disabled person's allowance. All are effective July 1.

The additional annual cost to the province is $500,000. Under the agreement total allowable incomes are also raised, and as a result more persons will become eligible for a portion of the provincial bonus.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Saturday: Ronald Ward, Camp Gordon Head, $50 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident, $35 for careless driving and $25 for driving without a licence.

In Colwood RCMP court Friday:

Ronald A. Willis, Douglas Hotel, $25 and $5 costs for speeding over 50.

Karl Polhammer, 1151 Prince, $25 and $5.50 costs for speeding over 35.

Anders Peterson Holm, 349 Linden, $20 and $3 costs; Frank Hart, Vancouver, $25 and $3 costs; William Ernest Passmore, 1122 View, $25 and $3 costs, all for speeding over 50.

Robert Joseph Durocher, Sooke, $15 and $3 costs for speeding over 30.

Buddy Robert Stocks, 7 Gorge, $35 and $3 costs for careless driving.

Messman Lonie Cook, 335 Arnot, $10 and $3 costs for driving without motor carrier plates.

Socred Gives New Promise On Bridge Aid

There was new hope at Victoria City Hall today that the provincial government would make a $108,218 contribution toward the erection of the new Point Ellice Bridge.

The optimism followed a campaign speech Friday by Social Credit candidate Waldo Skillings.

He said, "I am sure you will find when the federal government share of Point Ellice Bridge comes, your Social Credit government will match it dollar for dollar."

Officials at City Hall pointed out the department of transport has already approved a grant of $108,218 toward the new bridge.

It is believed Mr. Skillings was unaware of this because he also stated, "... there have been no dollars forthcoming. Perhaps they (the Liberal government) are waiting until after the election."

The first promise of dollar-for-dollar participation in the bridge was made by Works Minister W. N. Chant in the last provincial campaign.

The federal government has also relieved the city of responsibility for sales tax on steel being used. Canadian National Railway has promised $20,000 because the bridge crosses a CNR spur.

Calgarian Makes University School $110,000 Grant

Donation of $110,000 opened a drive to raise $1,000,000 at the University School this week.

Headmaster J. J. Timmis announced the donation came from Mrs. R. A. Brown, of Calgary, in honor of her son, R. A. Brown, Jr., an old boy.

The money will be used to build a new dining hall. Other donations will be put towards construction of a chapel and a science block.

BANISH 'OLD AGE'

TORONTO (CP) — Banish the term "old age" from the language and consider the years after 65 a period of growth and development, says Dr. Clarence M. Hincks of Toronto.

The 72-year-old psychiatrist and founder of the Canadian Mental Health Association, told the Ontario Conference on Aging Sunday night that good health need not be essential for rich living past 65.

The need of those more than 65 years old for useful activity was a recurring theme. Dr. Hincks recalled that his mother had learned new languages at 80.

Ottawa Man New Skipper Of Sioux

Cmdr. Peter G. Chance, of Ottawa and Halifax, has been appointed in command of the destroyer HMCS Sioux, which is to be transferred from the Pacific to Atlantic command, leaving Esquimalt July 2.

From May 1951 to September 1953 Cmdr. Chance served on the Pacific Coast, first in the destroyer Cayuga, later in the Cruiser Ontario, in both cases specializing in navigation.

His first command was the frigate HMCS Outremont, based at Halifax.

McEwen Advises City To Run Concessions

A new policy of operation by the city of concessions in city-owned parks was proposed today by Ald. E. D. McEwen.

Parks committee will consider instituting the scheme at Thetis Lake Park, but for this summer it will remain under private control.

The discussion occurred when it was learned a one-year agreement, whereby Thetis concessionaires would pay the city 10 per cent of profits, has expired.

"Why doesn't the parks department take over ... and hire someone to run it. It would make a good return. It seems to be against council policy to run it in a business-like manner. "We gave away $30,000 to $40,000 when we gave away (the concession) at Mount Douglas Park," he added.

FACILITIES POOR.

City manager C. C. Wyatt said it had been planned earlier for the city to take over complete operation of Thetis concession but due to present "poor facilities" the present arrangement was left undisturbed.

"What you have in mind is the city taking over concessions at Thetis, Elk, Beaver Lake parks as well as Mount Douglas," asked parks administrator W. H. Warren.

"And any others, too," said Ald. McEwen. "Happyland is awful. If we want to we can make good money out of it." He agreed any change would have to await termination of present contracts.

The committee indicated the present situation should continue through this summer and as the recently announced Theis development plan proceeds, the matter of city operation of all concessions would be further considered.

'New Look' Urged On U.S. Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States Senate Democratic leader has called for a "new look" at American policies as a result of the British decision to expand trade with Communist China.

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas told reporters he believes that the U.S. "must frankly face the fact that the British action will require us to re-evaluate the Chinese trade situation..."

"We will have to take a new look, and that new look will be one of our most pressing foreign policy problems in the months ahead."

As the Republican Senate leader, William F. Knowland of California, did Friday, Johnson took something of a conciliatory attitude toward London's decision to put Red China in the same trade category as Russia and the Soviet satellites.

Under U.S. urging, Britain and other Western countries had joined earlier in a stiffer trade embargo against Peiping than had been applied against Moscow. This was done primarily on the grounds the Chinese Communists had been declared by the United Nations to be aggressors in the Korean War.

The U.S. bars all shipments to Red China, and administration officials have not gone as far publicly as Johnson in suggesting a review of this policy.

SETBACK TO U.S.

Johnson said Britain's decision to relax the embargo represented an "abrupt break, and perhaps a setback, to the policies we have been following."

"There are many who question the wisdom of the British decision," he said, "but I recognize the fact that the British have problems with which we are not confronted."

In London, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said in a radio interview that he thought Britain's action would remove a source of friction between the two countries.

He said many people in Britain and its overseas territories felt the U.S. stand was depriving them of work, and that this had been "a handy weapon to anti-Americanism."

U.K. Report Urges Sweeping Changes For Mentally Ill

LONDON (Reuters)—A royal commission has recommended sweeping changes for the care of the mentally ill and for protection of their liberties.

Release of the commission's report coincides with a wave of public anxiety over alleged illegal detention of persons in mental institutions.

The National Council for Civil Liberties, conducting a campaign for a government investigation, says that 5,732 persons are held illegally as "found neglected" when in fact they were previously in the care of public or charitable groups.

One of the main commission recommendations is that mental patients should be detained in custody only when they or their relatives are unwilling to operate in steps for their own good.

Wismer's
IWA Plan
Said Illegal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A proposed five-month truce in contract negotiations between 30,000 west coast woodworkers and employers was branded as "illegal" today by Robert Smeal, Victoria, the union's conciliation board nominee.

Members of International Woodworkers of America are meeting here today to decide the union's stand on the majority report of the three-man conciliation board, which proposed the truce.

The truce was recommended Saturday in a report handed down by conciliation board chairman Gordon Wismer and company nominee George Robson.

Mr. Smeal refused to file his minority report on behalf of the IWA. He wired Labor Minister Lyle Wicks to order the board to reconvene and bring in a "proper" report.

He charges that board chairman Wismer, a former B.C. attorney-general, prevented an amicable settlement being reached.

Mr. Wismer said the proposal to call a truce "should find acceptance on both sides."

The IWA's demand for a 20 per cent wage boost for more than 30,000 coast woodworkers, a union shop and other fringe benefits, was refused by Forest Industrial Relations, representing 157 coast operators.

Mr. Wismer had privately met with both parties but reported he had failed.

Mr. Smeal is B.C. representative for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and vice-president of the B.C. Federation of Labor. He protests that the majority report is illegal because only the minister can sanction the extension called for by the report.

He said the proposed delay was a legal device to "trap" the IWA to continue its agreement for an indefinite period. The present contract expires June 14.

COUNSEL QUILTS

Alfred Bull withdrew today as counsel for former land and forests minister Robert Sommers in his slander suit against David Sturdy, Vancouver lawyer.

Mr. Bull's withdrawal was announced in Supreme Court today by Mr. Sturdy.

Outside the court, Mr. Bull told reporters: "There is no significance in my withdrawal. My firm will remain on the record as Mr. Sommers' legal advisers."

The slander action followed statements by Mr. Sturdy before a royal commission on forestry conducted by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of the B.C. Supreme Court.

The suit was again adjourned indefinitely today.

Both sides told Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane that they are waiting to hear if the Supreme Court of Canada will grant leave to appeal a B.C. court order, obtained by Mr. Sturdy, which would allow him to inspect certain items in Mr. Sommers' bank accounts and the accounts of two other men and four companies.

The third lucky Victorian is Mrs. Kathleen Bones of 1762 Carrick. (See interview, page 13.)

Mrs. Bones has ticket NHV 18489 on Mystic Prince. Odds on Mystic Prince reported from Epsom today are 100 to 1. Odds on Master Effort are not known.

The favorite is Crepello at 9 to 4.

Holders of Irish tickets on the winning horse would get $140,000; second place finish would be worth $56,000, and third place $28,000.

IN SAME OFFICE
Miss Peacock works in the same office as Mrs. Bones' daughter Helen. They are both assistants to George Jones, chairman of the B.C. Purchasing Commission.

"I'm so breathless I hardly know what to say," Miss Peacock told The Times. "I've been at work less than two years and the prospect of winning all that money for doing nothing is a little frightening."

"I don't know what I shall do with it. I haven't had time to get used to the idea."

It required an intensive search of the Legislative Buildings by a Times reporter to discover the holders of the "Lucky Us" ticket.

Mr. Lowres is an employee of the B.C. Power Commission. He has been at work only 18 months.

He and Miss Peacock share their ticket. They held separate tickets in the Irish sweep last year.

"I'm not getting excited yet," Mr. Lowres said. "Anything can happen in horse racing. We might only get a non-starters' prize." (About $1,200.)

Consolation prizes range from $56 to $280.

"It's pretty good news, just the same," Mr. Lowres added. "and you never know your luck."

2,000 Say Health
Of World in Danger

(From UP and AP Dispatches)
PASADENA, Calif.—Two thousand United States scientists, including Nobel-prize winning chemist Dr. Linus Pauling, appealed today for a world agreement to stop testing of nuclear bombs.

The scientists warned in a statement prepared by Dr. Pauling that each nuclear bomb test spreads an added burden of radioactive elements over the world.

"Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world and causes damage to the pool of human germ plasma such as to lead to an increase in the number of seriously defective children that will be born in future generations," the appeal said.

Dr. Pauling and his fellow scientists called for an international agreement to stop testing nuclear bombs now while only three nations of the world hold the secret to unleashing the awesome power of the hydrogen bomb.

"If testing continues," the statement warned, "and the possession of these weapons spreads to additional governments, the danger of outbreak of a cataclysmic nuclear war through the reckless action of some irresponsible national leader will be greatly increased."

They said that an agreement to stop testing nuclear bombs could serve as the first step toward a general disarmament and the ultimate effective abolition of nuclear weapons.

The appeal was signed by three Nobel laureates—Dr. Pauling, Dr. H. J. Muller and Dr. Joseph Erlanger—and by about 40 members of the National Academy of Sciences.

In a U.S.-wide television program Sunday, Dr. Pauling, chairman of Chemistry and Engineering at the California Institute of Technology, warned that the coming 20 generations may see the birth of four million defective babies unless the testing of nuclear weapons is stopped.

Meanwhile in Washington the doctor who directed treatment of Pacific Islanders accidentally showered with H-bomb fallout said nuclear war would have "unthinkable" results on "all living things."

Dr. Eugene P. Cronkite said in testimony prepared for a U.S. Senate-Committee of Representatives atomic energy subcommittee studying fallout dangers that multiple H-bomb explosions in such a war "would produce radiation hazards for all living things and for generations to come."

GOV'T HOUSE DESIGN

Don't Be Victorian
City Architect Says

A leading Victoria architect today said the design for the new Government House should be "modern reflecting the spirit of our times and not a copy of the empty forms of the past."

John di Castri, widely known across Canada for his new architectural ideas, stepped into the controversy over the design for the new building which was destroyed by fire in April.

He is the first professional architect to express his views publicly.

A survey of public opinion conducted by The Times Saturday showed that many people believe the building should conform in style to Victorian-Edwardian precedents.

Mr. di Castri said there should be no question of the style of the new building.

"To say that it should have an atmosphere of dignity is to state one of the basic truths, but to attempt to classify that dignity as 'of the English variety' is to verify our provincialism," he said.

Mr. di Castri said many people seem confused as to what a modern building should be. They forget, he said, that modern architecture is a method of thought similar to democracy, not a series of cliches.

SPEAK FOR PROVINCE
"This new Government House should speak for the city and province," he said. "It should be a clear statement of the integrity of the designer as well as of the society in which we live."

"It must, of course, be dignified and gracious, but not through sham effects achieved by thoughtless copying of the empty forms of the past," he added.

The building of Government House, he said, is a golden opportunity for Victoria to build something worthwhile.

Discussions, he added, should not be disturbed with the meaningless words of modernistic, traditional, home engineering and old-time styling.

"It is something that concerns us all vitally and those who have opinions of merit should speak out clearly," he said.

He noted that many people seemed to be still laboring under the misguided opinion that if a building is to be modern it cannot be beautiful, but must necessarily be cold, undignified, repulsive.

"This kind of thinking confirms the all-too-evident signs of our cultural, provinciality," he said. "We accept mediocrity just to be safe."

PATHETIC
Mr. di Castri asked Victorians to name one new building which they can point out with pride. He said the pathetic thing about Victoria is that its architecture is a design of "compromise."

Sentimentality, he said, should not be allowed to cloud the assessment of a new design.

"Either we are building something that our city can be proud of, or else, as a famous architect once said, 'we will have another of the kind of buildings we deserve,'" he said.

Campney Backs Pensions Deal

Social Credit could give old age pensioners in B.C. $92 a month by matching the present federal pension payment, Defence Minister Ralph Campney said in Courtenay Saturday night.

"If the Socials want $100-a-month pensions, let them match the $47,000,000 we are spending in B.C.," Mr. Campney told an audience of 55.

Mr. Campney speaks tonight at Colwood Community Hall in support of Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal candidate Alistair Fraser.

He said at Courtenay the federal family allowance payments of $28 a month for a family of four make Premier Bennett's $28 a year tax rebate for home owners look sick.

This year will be the second biggest in house construction, at the worst the third biggest, Mr. Campney said. After the record of 139,000 new houses in 1956, this year had been slow to start but the figure would reach 100,000.

"But with all those atomic and hydrogen bombs our prosperity could end in an ash heap. We must have national security."

"I don't see any likelihood of any substantial reduction in our commitments to NATO," he said. The national defence budget nevertheless had been reduced by $50,000,000 this year."

A. De B. McPhillips, Conservative candidate in Victoria, claimed Saturday night that Canada "blindly follows the U.S." in foreign policy.

"Canada has no position in foreign affairs except that of the United States," Mr. McPhillips told a meeting at Willows School.

The candidate said New York bankers are keeping the Canadian dollar at a premium because of their investments in this country.

Mr. McPhillips also hit out at Social Credit and said Premier Bennett should stay in his office tending to the province's business, instead of "strutting around the nation like a barnyard rooster."

Premier Bennett opens his prairie campaign tour tonight with a meeting at Saskatoon.

Mr. Bennett, who will be away from B.C. until election day, will be in Winnipeg Wednesday, and Regina Friday.

Election 'Prediction' Denied by Liberals

OTTAWA (CP)—General Secretary H. Erskine Kidd of the National Liberal Federation Sunday night said the federation has issued no confidential predictions of election results.

He was commenting on a Toronto Sunday Telegram story that a confidential memorandum for sole use of party officials predicted return of the St. Laurent government with a reduced majority.

"No memorandum was issued by this office," Mr. Kidd said. "We are not in the habit of making predictions."

The premier spoke at Kamloops Saturday night, and in a 2½-hour address said Social Credit would not enter a coalition with any party.

But if Social Credit didn't agree with the government, it would "combine" to defeat it.

Loss of 20 Seats in Ontario Won't Beat Liberals, Experts Say

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
TORONTO — Liberals are going to lose seats in Ontario, but not enough to loosen their grip on the government.

That's the consensus among practising politicians in this central province, a key to the outcome of the general election June 10.

A tour of ridings in Ontario and interviews with scores of politicians including candidates and their workers as well as personalities prominent on the political scene leads this correspondent to the conclusion: The Liberals are going to drop seats in Ontario but not heavily enough to lose power in Canada.

The Liberals could drop from 15 to, at the most, 20 seats in Ontario. That is the province that has shaped up to be the real battle ground between the forces of the two old-line parties.

Quebec by all accounts is holding solid on its Liberal line. The Liberals should keep the 68 seats they had in Quebec and perhaps take one or two more.

The Maritimes should return 20 Liberals, the prairie provinces from 17 to 18 Liberals, British Columbia five, and two Liberals in the northern constituencies in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

said the document was believed to have been prepared by Liberal headquarters on the basis of party information and the findings of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion.

"We have issued no confidential memos on the Gallup poll the Institute's findings nor on anybody's election guesses," Mr. Kidd told a reporter.

BALD BOY

how unnecessary this aid to fine grooming would soon become; for it wouldn't be long before I, with thousands of others, would be combing my hair with the palms of my hands.

The idea drove me to doing something about it before it was too late, and I set out to learn all about receding brows and how to retard them.

I began to take sly looks at the hair lines of my friends. If they had hair lines down to their eyebrows, like poodle dogs, I envied them and thought of dire and snide thoughts on "low-brows."

If their hair was "intellectual looking," that is, way back in true Shakespeare style, I smiled in the pleased satisfaction the guy with no hair gets when he meets a compatriot.

I found myself sneaking into rest rooms and looking at my own hair line. Where it was possible to see me in double mirrors, I kept hourly track of the back of the head.

When no one was home, I'd go into the den and look at some of my college rah-rah pictures, showing Elmer's hair blowing in the wind as he sat proudly at the wheel of a Stutz Bearcat.

I BEGAN to catch myself reading "hair ads." I pretended I was reading something else on the page, but those "here today, and gone tomorrow" ads found a good reader in Elmer.

Hair tonic ads began to find me an aficionado. I began (nonchalantly, of course) to ask my barber about the various claims of the tonics.

Indeed, "old fado" had a new problem, where to start in his campaign to hold the hair line.

I even wrote wig manufacturers for their literature to be sent "in plain, unmarked envelopes," just in case.

Imagine Elmer, captain in the Marine Corps; YMCA director, Eagle Scout, wearing a dome dolly. The idea nearly killed me.

It gave me nightmares. I'd find myself counting tonic bottles instead of sheep to put me to sleep.

I became so self-conscious of my receding brow that I kept my hat on at all times, in true Bing Crosby style.

PERHAPS WHAT really gave me the big-burn, though, was my shaggy-haired mongrel, a combination of sheep dog, cocker, and lion, I guess. Anyhow, he sure had a head of hair.

He had so much hair he could hardly see me. He had to peek through a mass of hair. While I dreamed of having the hair of a Steinmetz, the dog dreamed of living the life of the short-haired Chihuahua down the street.

Indeed, we both had our problems and I must start tomorrow to solve mine. After all, any good vet could solve the dog's problem.

Mine needed research, science, medical and perhaps, who knows some psychic treatment.

A mighty new job lay before Elmer; but the thoughts of that "dome dolly" drove me on.

I'd have the last laugh at that comb—for I was mad.

Swiftsure Committee Lists Final Results

Official results and correct times in the annual Swiftsure ocean yacht racing classic for 1957 were announced today by the race committee of Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

"Corrected times" are arrived at by subtracting time allowance from actual elapsed times. Time allowances are based on sail area, length and waterline, and other racing factors.

Triple-winner Maruffa's official corrected time for the 136.4 nautical mile race was announced as 21 hrs. 8 minutes, 25 seconds.

It brought her the Swiftsure trophy as overall winner and the B.C. Cement Trophy as "AA" class winner.

FIRST HOME

The Seattle Yacht Club entry, skippered by John Graham, took an elapsed time of 25 hours 59 minutes to win the City of Victoria trophy as first boat home, to become the first triple winner in Swiftsure history.

Second in overall corrected time was Sea Fever, also an "AA" class boat, in 25 hrs. 38 mins. 13 seconds. Third was "BB" class Rebel, whose time of 25 hrs. 51 mins. 9 secs. placed her first in her class to win the Eaton's trophy.

Lone entry in "B" class was Treveda, finishing in corrected time of 29 hrs. 49 mins. 23 secs. to win honors in that class.

Complete official corrected times, by classes, follow:

"AA" Class: Maruffa (21.08.25); Sea Fever (23.38.13); Cotton Blossom (26.42.52); Diamond Head (26.54.44); Alatola (27.13.20); Aurora (27.38.01); Adios (27.44.26); Dorade (28.19.04); Red Jacket (30.25.44).

"A" Class: Kate II (26.01.19); Stormy Weather (26.38.18); Mary Bower (26.50.35); Nautilus IV (28.56.20); Lenore (28.30.25); Savada (28.34.07); Gometra (30.28.08).

"BB" Class: Rebel (25.51.09); Karen IV (26.00.26); Zingara (26.09.25); Ono (29.09.37); Tem (29.37.44); Delphin (31.24.26); Susy Q (31.34.55). Escapade did not finish.

"B" Class: Treveda (29.49.23).

Ex-Victorian Admits Bank Holdup Charge

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)

—A 32-year-old former resident of Victoria pleaded guilty today to the attempted armed robbery of an east-end bank with a cap pistol he borrowed from his three-year-old daughter.

Fred Gardner was arrested Saturday several hours after a newspaper man began dickerer by phone with a caller who claimed to have information on the bank job and wanted the reward.

The newspaper man, managing editor Larry Smith of the St. Catharines Standard, tipped police. Detective James Bryan kept a rendezvous with the caller. Gardner was picked up and charged with the May 21 attempt to hold up the Bank of Commerce branch.

This Year Play in Oregon

It's an easy drive to Oregon nowadays. You'll enjoy getting here. And once you're in this friendly state, a 55,000-mile network of highways will take you quickly to a famous variety of fresh and unspoiled playlands. These highways lead from ocean surf up into mountain-top snow. Between the two are 97,000 square miles of evergreen forests, lakes, streams, plateaus and geologic lands which form spectacular settings for every vacation activity. And neighborly Oregon is ready to serve you and your family with hundreds of park areas, and all modern travel services and facilities. You'll be sure to have fun in Oregon.

YOU'LL SEE WILD ANIMALS and birds often when you follow Oregon's holiday routes. The scene above is at the 240,000-acre Hart Mountain National Antelope Refuge in Lake County in Southeastern Oregon.

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, high in the Cascade Mountains of Southern Oregon, will fascinate you. Plan to view the unbelievable blue of the lake, set in a huge volcanic cone, from the 38-mile highway around it.

Bilingualism Need Stressed by PM

(By The Canadian Press) Prime Minister St. Laurent said at St. Laurent, Que., Sunday the time is coming when high-placed members of the federal government will have to speak both French and English. He told an election rally he had expressed that view in the past and had scandalized his audience.

But his prediction is coming true even now, he said. One saw many English-speaking officials practicing French phrases. They were very proud when they had mastered them.

French and English are Canada's official languages and all ways will be, the prime minister aid. Bilingualism was one way to develop national unity.

Mr. St. Laurent is scheduled to finish his Quebec tour with a speech in Montreal tonight. He then leaves for a campaign trip in Ontario.

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell fired a tentative television shot from Regina at Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker. He said "understanding" between the Progressive Conservative leader and Ontario Premier Frost might mean a larger share of federal taxes for the central province at the cost of "less fortunate" provinces.

Mr. Diefenbaker meanwhile told a Minto, N.B., audience "power-mad" members of the Liberal federal government are forcing provinces and municipalities into the position of beggars. But if a Conservative government were elected, he would call a federal-provincial municipal conference intended to relieve the "frightful load" he said the non-central governments now are carrying.

At Aylmer, Ont., Social Credit chieftain Solon Low, discussed the British-French landing in Egypt and claimed Britain and France had "a perfect right" to go into Suez and "Canada should have supported them until they completed their mission."

Tony Wattie Senior Winner At Glenlyon

Three students swept top honors at the annual sports day of Glenlyon School Saturday.

Tony Wattie led the senior division, intermediate champion was David Marshall, and junior champion, Douglas Hartley.

PORT ALBERNI CADETS WIN NADEN CONTESTS

More than 250 Vancouver Island Sea Cadets took part in the annual inter-corps sports competitions Saturday at HMCS Naden which saw the Port Alberni corps edge out four other cadet groups.

Port Alberni cadets won the aggregate plaque with 16 points; Malanguy corps of Duncan got 13 points; Amphion of Nanaimo won 12; Victoria cadets won 11 and de Wolf cadets of Campbell River were awarded seven points.

Main events included a whale race, rifle team contest and track and field events.

The cadets attended church here Sunday at St. Andrew's Cathedral and Metropolitan United Church.

Brian Sneade, Judy Griffiths S. J. Willis Senior Sport Champs

Brian Sneade racked up 13 points to win the senior boys' championship in sports day events at S. J. Willis Junior High School Friday.

Senior girls' champion was Judy Griffiths, 15 points. Intermediate honors went to Gary Zilkie and Charlie Rees, tied with eight points, and Joyce Murrant, 15 points.

In the junior division, Ranjit Dillon and Alvin Lowe tied with 13 points, and Barbara Pudsey stepped out with another 13.

An aggregate of 168 points was won first place in boys' and girls' events for House 3. Second was House 1 with an aggregate of 134 and third, House 2, 85 points.

5,000 See Shrine End Funfest With Colorful Pageant in Arena

Visiting Shriners wrapped up a two-day spring ceremonial Saturday night with a peppy pageant in Memorial Arena.

Almost 5,000 Victorians attended the show, sitting through temperatures that reached 80 degrees in the higher seats.

Unofficial guest of honor was Roberta Ratcliffe, 11, of Mount Newton Crossroad, Saanichton. Roberta was crippled with cerebral palsy at the age of two and has been receiving treatment at the Shriners' Hospital in Portland. During the evening she presented a bouquet to Miss

The vivid show was sparked by comedian- pianist Jimmy Fisher of Vancouver. The only Shriner without the familiar fez, he wore a baggy suit and pork-pie hat, and announced his first number as "Get Out of the Wheat Field Mother — You're Going Against the Grain."

Their fezes glittering under bright lights, Vancouver's Gizeh Temple Chanters added to the variety show flavor with their harmony. They dedicated their Shriners' Nile Drum and Bugle Corps from Seattle serenaded prisoners in the city jail Saturday.

"It was what you might call a captive audience," said musical director Harry Hammond, "but they gave us a great reception."

The Shriners played at the request of the police department. Other Shriners staged impromptu concerts on street corners and in the department stores.

last number "One Alone" to Mrs. Irvin Miller, wife of the illustrious Potentate.

Completing the rainbow of color were an Oriental Band from New Westminster, and exhibitions by Prince Rupert Shriners, Vancouver's Pipe and Drum Corps, and the Nile Drum and Bugle Corps of Seattle.

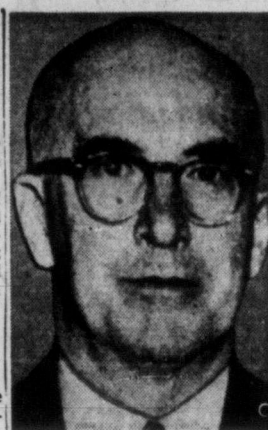

Kasper Conviction Of Rioting Upheld

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Saturday upheld the contempt of court conviction of race segregationist John Kasper on grounds the freedom of speech amendment "does not confer the right to persuade others to violate the law."

Kasper, 27, white citizens council organizer and former New York bookseller, was sentenced to one year in prison in connection with inflaming a three-day riot at Clinton last August.

Federal Servants Urge PM Act on Salary Hike

TORONTO (CP)—More than 2,000 members of the Civil Servants' Federation Sunday supported a motion asking Prime Minister St. Laurent for an immediate decision on their request for a national salary increase.

The government announced salary increases for professional civil servants May 9.

Stressing that the meeting was not a political rally, F. W. Whitehouse, president of the 70,000-member federation, urged civil servants to refrain from making political utterances that might find their way into the newspapers.

The members also endorsed the federation's move to have the question of civil servants' salaries left out of the political arena. Mr. Whitehouse said the federation represents the fact politicians have made a political issue of their salary.

"We don't like it and we are not going to stand for it," he said.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in an election campaign address at Cobourg, Ont., last month his government was postponing until after the election the matter of general salary increases for civil servants.

Commenting on an Ottawa newspaper's estimate that civil servants' wages would be increased by from 4.5 to 7 per cent, Mr. Whitehouse said, the federation would never accept it.

"We have asked for a 10 per cent interim increase and if we do not get it by July it will have to be a 12 per cent hike," he said.

B.C. Groups Press Demand For Boost Now

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special meeting of the Vancouver and New Westminster District Council of the Civil Service Federation of Canada has asked Prime Minister St. Laurent to announce salary increases before the June 10 federal election.

The request was contained in a resolution passed unanimously Sunday night by 300 delegates.

Members also urged the Civil Service Federation of Canada to continue efforts for a negotiation procedure similar to the Whitley Council in Great Britain. W. Hewitt-White, federation national vice-president, said such a procedure would take the politics out of the situation.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.
